TWO MEN ARE KILLED BY BOILER EXPLOSION

Another So Badly Injured That Death Is Expected—Accident in Ohio Oil Field.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

BELLAIRE, O., July 31.—A terrible ex- plosion occurred this morning near New Castle, Monroe county, in which two men lost their lives and another will die from his injuries.

This location is right in the center of the new Monroe county oil field, and a large saw mill on the farm of George Jeff was cutting timber for the derricks. When the boiler exploded, completely de- molishing the plant, instantly killing John Shaw and George Wheeler, engineer and fireman, and fatally injuring Charles Supper, a helper.

INJURED IN A RUNAWAY.

Charles H. Stadelman, Prominent Real Estate Man, Was Thrown from a Buggy.

Charles H. Stadelman, a prominent real estate man, was severely injured last night in a runaway on Fifth avenue near Negley avenue. His wife and child, who were with him, were only saved by the pluck of a woman, who grasped the reins after her husband was thrown out, and assisted in bringing the frightened horse to a stop.

Mr. and Mrs. Stadelmans live at No. 708 Sum- mer street. Last evening they went for a drive in their rig. An automobile on Emerson street frightened the horse which dashed madly out Fifth avenue. At the corner of Highland two cars were passing. Mr. Stadelman managed to turn the horse partly out of the way, but the hind wheel struck one of the cars, and he was thrown out.

Mr. Stadelman was badly cut and bruised about the head and face, and the shock from the fall, added to the fact that he was crushed somewhat when the horse ran over him, makes his injuries serious. The attending physician last night said he would recover.

EARTH ROLLS LIKE GREAT OCEAN WAVES

People Knocked Down in Streets and Houses Tumble to Ground.

TOWN DESTROYED BY EARTHQUAKE

Not a Brick Building Stands in Los Alamos, Others Twisted Like Reeds.

SEVENTY SHOCKS, AND END NOT YET

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

San Luis Obispo, July 31.—A strip of country 15 miles long by four miles wide, rent with gaping fissures and dotted with hills and knolls that sprung up during the night as if by magic, a village in ruins and hundreds of people fleeing for their lives, are the results of last night's seismic dis- turbance in the valley of Los Alamos, in the northern part of Santa Barbara county.

During the last four days that sec- tion of country has been shaken by a series of earthquake shocks that is with- out precedent in the history or tradition of the Pacific coast, and the continuance of the disturbances and the increasing severity of the shocks have so terrorized the inhabitants that they are leaving as rapidly as possible, and even now the vil- lage is almost entirely deserted.

The disturbances began on Sunday evening with a shock which caused dam- age to the extent of several thousand dollars to property in the village and sur- rounding country, being more disastrous in the vicinity of the Western Union Oil Company's oil wells on the Carriga ranch. This shock was followed by a number of disturbances less severe and less disastrous, continuing through the remainder of Sunday night and Monday.

Like Waves on a Pond.

On Tuesday night, beginning at 12:10 o'clock, there was another series of se- vere shocks, all of which were light. These disturbances resembled the waves on a pond of water. The most severe shock of the entire series occurred at 1:30 o'clock this morning. Hills were shaken and twisted to their foundations, and the valleys trembled and rolled like the un- stable surface of the ocean. Great fis- sures were run deep in the earth, hills and knolls appeared in level valleys, springs of water appeared in places that had been dry, and the general topography of the valley was changed in many re- spects.

The disturbance had no general direc- tion, but was what is known as a "twister." It was preceded by a rum- bling like that of distant thunder, which increased until the earth began to rise and twist and the hills began to tremble.

With the first warning of the sound of the approaching disaster the terror- stricken people rushed into the streets and sought places of safety in vacant lots and roads, while many fled toward the neighboring hills. The first vibrations were similar to the preceding disturb- ances in direction and effect, but they were immediately followed by the most terrific shock ever experienced in this section of the state.

People Thrown to Ground.

The earth trembled and rolled and twisted until it was impossible for people to stand erect and the terror-stricken in- habitants crouched together in the dark- ness, fearful that the earth beneath them might open and swallow them.

The terror inspired by the rumbling and trembling of the earth was increased by the sound of falling buildings, which gave some idea of the terrible destruction that was being wrought. When the most seri- ous shocks had passed and the rumbling sounds had died away the people gathered in groups about the ruins of their homes and places of business, and when they saw the extent of the damage many of them, fearful of a repetition of this ex- perience, immediately started on foot or by any conveyance that could be had, for places where the previous shocks had been less severe.

In the darkness of the night it was im- possible to determine the full extent of damage wrought, but with the dawn of day the stricken village had the appear- ance of the ruins of a city long deserted. A church had been leveled to the ground and not one brick building was left standing. Chimneys had toppled over, frame buildings wrenched apart and thrown from their foundations, telegraph and telephone wires broken and there was not a building in town that was not dam- aged seriously.

Loss Will Reach $30,000.

In store buildings that were totally de- stroyed the merchandise was thrown from shelves and everything breakable was de- stroyed; not a pane of glass was left in any window in town, and in frame cottages and dwelling houses that were left stand- ing, stoves were overturned and crockery and glassware were destroyed.

A conservative estimate of the loss to property in the village is $30,000, and this amount will probably be greatly increased by the damage in the surrounding coun- try.

The extent of the most severe portion of the disturbance is 11 miles long by four miles wide, but the shock was felt throughout Santa Barbara and San Luis Obispo counties. At the Western Union oil wells on Carriga ranch, two tanks were wrecked and much other damage was done.

The disturbances continued throughout the day at intervals of two hours, but none of the shocks was severe. The peo- ple have deserted the village, every con- veyance has been taken and the passen- ger and freight trains that have left here since the severe shock last night have been loaded with people fleeing for safety.

Since the first disturbances on Sunday night there have been over 70 distinct shocks and those who have been keeping records have now given up, as the dis- turbances have become almost continu- ous.

Another severe earthquake shock was felt at Los Alamos at 7:30 tonight. It was almost as heavy as that of early this morning. A slight shock was felt in Santa Barbara at the same time. A shock was felt at Santa Maria at 7:25 o'clock.

THE PLAINTIFFS IN THE FAMOUS DOG CASE AND THE DOG THEY HAVE NOT YET SUCCEEDED IN GETTING.

TESTIMONY OF THE DOG WAS CONCLUSIVE

On It Justice Creelman Based His Solomon-Like Decision.

FAMOUS DOG CASE ATTRACTED MANY

The whereabouts of "Rex," the St. Bernard dog said to be worth $5,000, which disappeared from the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Wendler, Brushton avenue and Tioga street, Pittsburgh, on March 29, is still a mystery so far as the decision of the court which heard the case in Wilkinsburg, yes- terday afternoon, is concerned. After hearing all the evidence in the case, Justice Samuel Creelman discharged Laymain Karcher of No. 638 Peebles street, Wilkinsburg, who was arrested last Thursday charged with the theft of the dog by the Wendlers.

There were all kinds of witnesses on the case. Some told stories so clear and convincing that there was no room left to question their truth; others were not so sure and evidently were in the case to help a friend, and others were seekers for notoriety. The best witness of the day was the dog. He had little to say; he only barked once, but by his actions he decided the case.

The Dog Settled the Case.

When the old squire got up on his feet and, leaning on the table, looked over his spectacles and said, "Let the dog go up again and shake hands with the witness," it was evident that Squire Creelman had his mind made up that the dog was never the property of Wendler.

Squire Creelman is the sage of Wil- kinsburg. Just how old he is nobody is sure, but he a well-preserved man who looks as if he might be about 65. He is a veteran of the civil war and enjoys an enviable reputation for looking deep down into cases and not paying much atten- tion to the pleadings of the attorneys. His office is at No. 1020 Wood street. It has two rooms, but both of them would not have accommodated the witnesses on one side of the case. On the squire's lot the Baptists have a gospel tent, and he decided that was the place for the hearing.

Karcher's witnesses seated themselves on the right of the little platform to which the preacher called sinners, and with them was the dog. Mr. Wendler with his wife, who it is said has lost 20 pounds since her dog was stolen, were seated in the front row on the opposite side. On the platform, in the center, was Squire Creelman. On his right was Ed- ward Chalfant, son of the Rev. George W. Chalfant, the well-known Presby- terian divine, attorney for Karchner. On his left was Samuel S. Bailey, who is an aspirant for the legislature and who had a number of his cards with him to hand around. He was Wendler's attorney.

Mrs. George H. Giedhill of No. 3483 Madison avenue, Pittsburgh, was there. She was standing beside Mrs. Wendler when the dog was brought to the tent. As soon as she saw the dog she said: "That is not my Prince." Mrs. Wendler said, "But it is my Rex." Mrs. Karcher, who was but a short distance away, said: "Here Teddy," and the dog nearly knocked her from her feet as he jumped toward her.

Mrs. Giedhill's statement that the dog was not her Prince removed her as a possible actor in the case. She lost a dog some time ago and had an idea that pos- sibly the dog in question was hers. She was an interested spectator to the whole proceedings.

Wendler Tells His Story.

J. H. Wendler, the prosecutor, was the first to take the witness chair. He told of having had the dog given to him by George Baker in Minneapolis on Septem- ber 29, 1901, when he was five weeks old, and that the dog was yesterday 11 months and one week old. He said he had the dog where he used to live in Compromise street, Allegheny, until a few weeks be- fore he was stolen, when he brought him to the drug store corner of Brushton ave- nue and Tioga street, Pittsburgh.

The dog was stolen, he said, on March 29, at night. He knew the date well be- cause it was then his wife began to fail and has since lost 20 pounds. She is still failing away. Wendler advertised for the dog, and made every effort to recover him. He had neither seen the dog or heard of him, until July 16, when his wife found him fastened in the rear yard of Karcher's place. He was certain it was his dog, because he answered to the name of "Rex." knew Mrs. Wendler and had kissed her when she went in the yard; and beside he had peculiar claws above his hind feet.

Scheidemantle was married last Monday to Miss Mary Davis of Ell- wood, and the couple went to the home of the groom. The next after- noon he left the house for a walk. When he did not return a search was instituted, and no trace of the man could be found until today.

The suicide is thought to have been the result of temporary insanity. The young bride can give no explanation of the act.

The victims were John Cowan of No. 1622 Sandusky street, Allegheny, and Samuel Devery of No. 1401 Penn avenue. The thief displayed a revolver and re- ceived $35 from Cowan. Devery pre- sented his pocketbook, saying that it was empty. The thief looked in it, saw nothing, handed it back and ran away. The pocketbook contained $40.

POLICE CLASH WITH SOLDIERS AT UNIONTOWN

Day of Hospitality Is Almost Wiped Out Just Before Close.

THREE OFFICERS TAKEN TO PRISON

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Uniontown, Pa., July 31.—After every effort on the part of the citizens to give the Tenth Regiment associa- tion a pleasant time today, the whole score was practically wiped out by the police arresting Capt. Loar and Lieut. Thompson of Mt. Pleasant and Sergt. Maj. Wilson of Washington. The af- fair occurred just as the troopers were about to leave town.

Lieut. Thompson was standing in front of the Central hotel when a negro grossly insulted him and was knocked down. Two policemen arrested Thompson, and when his captain, J. A. Loar of Mt. Pleasant, protested he was also arrested.

Soldiers swarmed around their officers and wrested Thompson from the police- men, but Loar was taken to the lock-up. There Sergeant Major Wilson of the Washington company showed his indigna- tion, and he was thrown behind the bars. Thompson, the original offender, then ap- peared and was locked up. The soldiers were roughly handled by the police, who ignored the tender of unlimited amounts of forfeit for the soldiers, but insisted on locking them up.

Crowd Around the Jail.

A great mob surrounded the lock-up in a few minutes and the soldiers clamored for their officers' release. The crowd was becoming dangerous and was threatening to tear down the lock-up to get their friends, but Burgess Rutter appeared about 15 minutes after the arrests and

DAY OF SLEIGHING AND SNOWBALLING FOR THE TEACHERS

Midwinter Pleasures Enjoyed in July High on Slopes of Jungfrau.

START FOR PARIS TODAY

By L. W. STRAYER.
Staff Correspondent.

[SPECIAL CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

Interlaken, Switzerland, July 31.—Today the touring teachers enjoyed what will probably be the most novel experience of the entire journey. They went, in a few hours, from sum- mer into everlasting winter.

We came into Switzerland from Baden last Monday, and have spent four delightful days in this land of mountains, valleys and lakes. We arrived last evening at this little town in a beautiful valley of Central Switz- erland and today took an excursion to the base of the Jungfrau, the most fa- mous peak of the Bernese Alps. This region is historic. It is the scene of many of the exploits of William Tell and the Jungfrau is immortalized in Schiller's great poetic work on Tell. The poet speaks of the mountain as "sitting veiled since eternity," and the description is be- fitting. The peak is covered with snow and a wintry mist, white in the sunlight, hangs always about the summit.

After a short ride by rail the party took sleighs and was driven to a hostelry well up the slope, where we had lunch- eon. The teachers had a frolic in the snow and tossed snowballs at one another in reckless manner. There were no ca- sualties. When we returned to our hotel at Interlaken, the display of appetite was wonderful. All the tourists are well and keen with enjoyment. In the morning we depart for Paris.

CARDINAL LAUDS SCHLEY.

Accepts Vice Presidency of Triumphal Arch Association.

BALTIMROE, July 31.—In a letter ac- cepting the appointment of the vice presi- dency of the Schley Triumphal Arch as- sociation, recently organized in this city to erect an enduring monument to the admiral, Cardinal Gibbons says:

"Admiral Schley's victory shed glory on our state, and I cheerfully accept the position assigned to me, earnestly hoping that the patriotic enterprise will meet with a hearty response from the citizens of Maryland."

BURGESS ORDERS ARMED DEPUTIES TO LEAVE TOWN

Feared Presence in New Philadelphia Would Cause Rioting.

OXFORD COLLIERY BEING OPERATED

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

Pottsville, Pa., July 31.—Some ex- citement was occasioned at New Phil- adelphia this morning when 22 dep- uties with guns on their shoulders marched into town, evidently to se- cure the release of a number of men who were not permitted to return to work at the Silver Creek colliery of the Philadelphia & Reading Coal & Iron Company.

Their arrival caused indignation among some of the citizens, who de- clared that the presence of the armed men would tend to incite a riot. Chief Bur- gess Walters and Constable Anstock or- dered the deputies out of town and they returned to the colliery.

POTTSVILLE, PA., July 31.—John De- bow, a striker, was apprehended on the mountains near Merriam colliery at 2 o'clock this morning and was locked in Sunbury jail. He is charged with shoot- ing Coal and Iron Officer W. W. Cassell last night. Cassell is in a critical con- dition.

SCRANTON, PA., July 31.—The Oxford colliery of the Peoples Coal Company and the Cayuga colliery of the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western Company re- sumed operations this morning and worked all day. The Oxford had be- tween 120 and 130 men under ground, 50 per cent of whom were recruited from various parts of the valley. The Cayuga had 60 miners, all of them old employes of this or adjacent Delaware, Lackawan- na & Western collieries in North Scran- ton. Crowds surrounded both collieries when they were starting up, but the city police and Sheriff Schadt's men prevented any disorder.

HAZLETON, PA., July 31.—G. B. Markle & Co., operating the Jeddo, Eber- vale, Highland and Oakdale collieries, is- sued a notice today that on and after August 1 no money will be collected through their office for the maintenance of the company doctor. This removes one of the grievances of which the miners have complained for some time.

NEW STREET CAR LINE WILL BE BUILT

It Will Connect Wilkinsburg and Turtle Creek and Is Backed by New Yorkers.

A traction line is soon to be built to connect Turtle Creek and Wilkinsburg. The right of way has all been secured and most of it is through private prop- erty. The distance will be 5¼ miles.

The line will start at Brown avenue, Turtle Creek, near the Westinghouse property. At Wilkinsburg it will connect with the line now being built from Ver- ona to Wilkinsburg. The grades will be easy and it is said that the line can be built through Wilkins and Braddock townships and a portion of North Brad- dock borough for less than $20,000 a mile.

Judge, Scott & Young of New York are reported to be behind this movement. Associated with them are some prominent capitalists who have traction interests. The line will open up some very desir- able residence territory and be of great assistance to the workingmen living in the boroughs in reaching their work.

BYERS COMPELLED TO GIVE NEW BONDS

Latest Feature of Case Against Young Greensburg Attorney — Charged With Larceny of More Money.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

GREENSBURG, PA., July 31.—Charged with the larceny of $2,233.330 in bonds and money, sued in the civil court for dam- ages to the extent of $74,000, and arrested again charged with larceny of funds be- longing to Jacob Byers, is the record of Attorney W. S. Byers in the bond mys- tery case to date.

Constable Randolph from Tarr came here this afternoon, and when Byers heard of the presence of the officer he promptly set about to get bondsmen.

The new warrant charged the lawyer with the larceny of certain money here- tofore not mentioned, which his uncle alleges he gave to the attorney to invest for him. Bail was fixed at $40,000, which was given.

UNION MEN PROTEST AGAINST SOLDIERY

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

Shenandoah, Pa., July 31.—Twelve hundred state troops are encamped to- night on a hill overlooking Shenan- doah. Down in the town, where riot- ers and policemen fought the bloody battle last night, all is quiet and the indications are that so long as the militia remains the peace of the com- munity will not again be broken.

The riot which caused the soldiers to be sent here came like a flash and was over almost as quickly as it had started, and since then there has not been a single case of violence reported. The tens of thousands of idle men and boys in this vicinity who had been gathering in large numbers and marching from place to place did not repeat their demon- strations today and the authorities, con- sequently, had little or nothing to do.

The first companies to arrive came from St. Clair at 6:30 a. m., and from that hour up to 8 p. m., when the gov- ernor's troop of cavalry disembarked and galloped up the main street, Shenandoah presented a lively appearance. Most of the commands were on the ground by 10:30 o'clock.

Camp Overlooks the Town.

Brig. Gen. J. P. S. Gobin of the Third Brigade, in command of the troops here, with his staff, was on the scene early. The camp is located on a very high hill just outside of the town proper, and com- mands a full view of the town. Within the camp lines are quartered two full regi- ments—the Eighth and the Twelfth—two companies of the Fourth regiment and the troop of cavalry. Gen. Gobin ex- pressed himself as highly pleased with the rapidity with which the camp was estab- lished. The commander and his staff are quartered at the Ferguson house, but it is the general's intention to get under canvas as soon as circumstances will permit.

Beyond the presence of a group of sol- diers here and there on the principal street, Shenandoah does not show any evidence of having passed through a trying ordeal. The large number of per- sons who had been attracted to the place by the coming of the militia left during the afternoon and tonight the town pre- sents its normal appearance.

Foreigners Respect Soldiers.

The major portion of the population is made up of foreigners, and as a rule they kept close to their homes during the day. It is claimed by the citizens of the town that the foreign element was solely re- sponsible for the trouble. The Philadel- phia & Reading railroad depot, where the riot occurred, shows many marks of the battle. A strong guard was placed around the station so that the crowd would not delay the soldiers as they left the trains and marched to the camping grounds.

Contrary to popular belief, Shenandoah is not under martial law. The local au- thorities and the sheriff of the county have not relinquished control of the town or county. The soldiers are merely in camp outside the town. It was deemed advisable, however, by Gen. Gobin to es- tablish provost guard in certain parts of the town. Maj. Norman S. Farquahar of Pottsville is the provost marshal. So long as the situation remains as it is at present there is not any likelihood that the regi- mental companies will be scattered through the mining towns of Schuylkill county. It is the intention of Gen. Gobin to have the troops occupy their time by going through drills, target practice and general camp routine.

Gobin's View of Situation.

Gen. Gobin spent a busy day informing himself of the situation throughout the county. He had a personal interview with Sheriff Beddall in the forenoon.

"The general situation is very quiet," Gen. Gobin said tonight. "There were no incidents during the day worthy of note, except the arrival of 500 or 600 men on freight trains. It seems that a lot of the idle men, for want of something better to do, jump freight trains and ride from one town to another.

"I have received dispatches from differ- ent parts of the county which tell of meetings, marches, attacks on individuals, violations of the law and the refusal of local police authorities to enforce the law. Upon these dispatches I am not yet ready to act. What I will do depends largely upon what the sheriff is going to do. We are here to give him support in his ef- forts to enforce the civil law; we were ordered here because of his inability to do so."

The mine workers are greatly incensed over the calling out of the troops. The following telegram was sent to Governor Stone:

Ask an Investigation.

"We, the undersigned officials of the Ninth district of the miners' union be- lieve that the request made to you to send troops to Shenandoah was based upon exaggeration; and as we are confirmed in this belief, we respectfully request you to send a personal representative into this town to investigate the conditions, and after such investigation believe that you will learn that the presence of the troops in this town is unnecessary and that the order should be revoked."

It was signed by the district leaders.

Miles Dougherty, national board mem- ber of the United Mine Workers from this district, said tonight that Deputy Sheriff Thomas Beddall, who is a nephew of the sheriff, and who was escorting workmen along the street, which action led to the riot, was wholly responsible for the trou- ble. Dougherty said Beddal had no good reason to shoot, as no one was mak- ing an attack upon him. The firing of the revolver, he said, angered the crowd, which soon got beyond the control of the peacemakers. Beddall's brother Joseph, who attempted to go to his rescue, was badly beaten by some one in the crowd.

Mr. Dougherty said, because he was carrying several boxes of cartridges.

Union Officials Confer.

The district leaders of the miners' union held several conferences during the day, at which the situation was thoroughly gone over. Committeeman Dougherty made a full report to President Mitchell by telephone. This afternoon the miners' advisory board of this vicinity, which includes the officers of the several local unions, held a secret meeting, at which plans were devised to prevent any intended breaks in the ranks of the strikers. One of the things decided upon was to hold frequent meetings of strikers and have them addressed by the various district leaders.

Joseph Beddall, who was last night reported to have died, lived until 10 o'clock tonight. He was a brother of Deputy Sheriff Thomas Beddall and a nephew of S. R. Beddall, the sheriff of the county. He was 32 years of age and a member of the Beddall-Taggart Company, wholesale and retail hardware dealers of this city. The four policemen who were shot and the strikers who were also hit by bullets will recover. Most of the wounded strikers claim they were merely onlookers.

The district attorney and the sheriff are prosecuting an investigation with a view of placing under arrest all those who participated in the riot. Several of the wounded strikers called at the Miners' hospital today to have slight injuries dressed, and after the doctors got through with them they were arrested and taken to the Pottsville jail.

CHARLESTON, W. VA., July 31.—(Special.)—The long-expected blanket injunction covering the entire New River field was issued by Judge Keller today. It was granted on the application of the Chesapeake & Ohio coal agency of New York city, representing 50 operators.

The writ restrains G. W. Purcell, W. B. Wilson, John Mitchell, J. W. Carroll, J. Q. Richards and others from interfering in any way with the operation of the mines, entering upon the company property, assembling upon roads or paths approaching thereto, or leading to the homes of miners employed by the company, or marching or assembling near the properties of the company. The motion for a permanent injunction is set for a hearing November 18.

CLARKSBURG, W. VA., July 31.—A petition for the issuance of a writ of habeas corpus for the release of Thomas Haggerty and others, sent to jail last Thursday for contempt of court by Judge Jackson at Parkersburg, will be filed before Judge Nathan Goff of the United States circuit court tomorrow or Saturday.

Federal Judge Keller made the following statement tonight:

"I would like to have a correction of a statement circulated that I had issued an injunction, such as have been denominated 'the starvation order,' not from personal reasons, but on account of the effect such false statement might have upon the struggle now going on between labor and capital. I have issued no order restricting the furnishing of supplies to the striking miners."

MEETING CALLED OFF.

State Chairman Creasy Did Not Arrive and Democratic Pow-Wow Was Indefinitely Postponed.

The meeting between State Chairman W. T. Creasy, of the Democratic state committee, and other Democrats, was not held yesterday. Mr. Creasy did not arrive, and the meeting has been called off. The Democratic campaign committee appointed by the county executive committee was to meet yesterday in the Democratic headquarters, but as several members are out of town, the committee will meet some other time. Lawrence A. Fagan will be secretary of the committee, which will have charge of the active county campaign work. His duties will not conflict with those of Marion H. Murphy, secretary of the executive committee. A room has been furnished, desks and chairs put in, and Mr. Fagan will be on hand most of the time.

A good many members of the George L. McFarlane Fishing and Camping club, composed of Republican politicians, left yesterday for the wilds of Canada, to spend the heated term. Some of the members left previously, and the remainder will nearly all go today. The camp has been prepared, and an ample supply of refreshments has been laid in.

The colored Citizens party met at the headquarters of the Citizens party in Third avenue. The party has effected an organization, and will do missionary work among the negro population all over the county. Stanley Mills is president.

The organization of the Duquesne fusionists gave a reception last night to the candidates on the fusion county ticket. Most of the candidates were there, including Candidates James W. Brown, for congress, and R. H. Heath and U. M. Beck, for the legislature.

SAVING AND SAFETY.

The Simple Solution of a Difficult Problem.

Saving money doesn't depend so much upon large earnings as it does upon keeping down expenses. Bring your expenditures below your income and place the balance in the Pennsylvania Trust Company, which has a capital and surplus of $800,000 and pays 4 per cent, compound interest, and you will have solved the problem of saving and safety. You can begin with $1.00. 410 Smithfield street is the location.

STATE COLLEGE CHAPEL'S COST TO BE DOUBLED

Mr. and Mrs. Schwab Decide $65,000 Is Not Enough for Project.

OLD PLAN DISAPPROVED

Building Will Be Located in Prominent Place on Campus—Architectur Plain, on Grecian Lines—To Be Fireproof.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Bellefonte, Pa., July 31.—Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Schwab's gift of a chapel to State college will be almost double the cost announced at the recent commencement. At that time $65,000 was named as the sum. It was then proposed merely to extend the present chapel room in the main college building, but after due consideration Mr. and Mrs. Schwab concluded that they do not approve that proposition, but desire a separate building located in some prominent, as well as convenient, spot on the college campus. In view of this fact they have increased their gift to $120,000, or as much more as it will require to erect the building already planned.

George Parsons, the landscape artist of New York, was called to the college and after a careful study of all the environments has recommended that the chapel be located immediately in front of the botanical building and midway on a line from the rear of the main building to the rear of the armory.

As designed the chapel will be 94x120 feet, fronting to the south. The foundations and entrance will be New England granite. The superstructure will be gray brick, with terra cotta trimmings and copper roof. The building will be plain in architecture, on Grecian lines and from the exterior will have the appearance of being only one-story high.

The entrance will be through grilled doors that fall back into the building. A very imposing vestibule will impress one upon entering the chapel. Its floor will be of mosaic with either tile or mahogany wainscoting.

From the vestibule a marble stairway will lead to the 40x50 foyer above, from which the gallery entrance will be made. The auditorium will be in quartered oak or mahogany. It will have a seating capacity of about 1,500 and there will be galleries on three sides. The stage will have both depth and width for all purposes and will be an artistic frontispiece for the interior effect.

The building will be thoroughly fireproof, and every detail of convenience has been carefully looked after. The main door will have a fall of two feet. There will be few straight lines in the interior, the object in securing rounded corners and a closed circular ceiling being to secure the best acoustics possible.

SCHWAB GOES TO LORETTO.

He Shows No Trace of His Recent Indisposition by the Seaside.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., July 31.—(Special.)—Charles M. Schwab left this city this morning in his private car, Loretto. He was accompanied by Mrs. Schwab and several relatives who have been visiting here. Mr. Schwab has gone to Loretto, Pa., the home of his childhood, where it is thought the surroundings and mountain air will work a complete recovery from his recent indisposition.

PHILADELPHIA, July 31.—Mr. Schwab passed through this city today. He showed no trace of his recent illness.

ALTOONA, PA., July 31.—(Special.)—Mr. Schwab passed through this city this afternoon. While here he sent a note by Mrs. Schwab to Bishop Eugene A. Garvey of the Altoona Catholic diocese, telling him he would erect a bishop's palace in this city.

Mr. Schwab left the car at Loretto, but Mrs. Schwab came on to Braddock. This morning the car will return to Cresson with Mrs. Schwab, her mother, Mrs. M. W. Kinsey, her sister, Mrs. Marshall Ward and her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Mock.

POLICE CLASH WITH SOLDIERS

dispersed the soldiers, promising to hear the matter immediately.

The crowd had hardly moved away when the prisoners were released.

The soldiers say they were assaulted by the policemen when they had them in the lock-up and suffered bodily harm and will sue the town for damages.

The crowd surrounding the lock-up was chiefly citizens of the town, indignant at the outrage offered their visitors, although about 200 soldiers were present.

Capt. Loar is undecided whether or not to take action against the officers for false arrest. In a statement tonight Capt Loar said he was willing to swear that the men who arrested him were intoxicated.

Maj. Edward McCormick, judge advocate of the regiment, and other officers residing here, equally condemn the course of the police.

Burgess Rutter of Uniontown, leader of the Tenth Regiment band, it is said, for a time refused to interefere in the matter, and from a high source it is learned tonight that the service of the band will not likely be longer required by the regiment.

The city had been practically given over to the Manila veterans, and it was a day full of pleasure until the affair with the police. Houses were handsomely decorated on every street. Three hundred members of the Regimental association were present.

Some Impromptu Speeches.

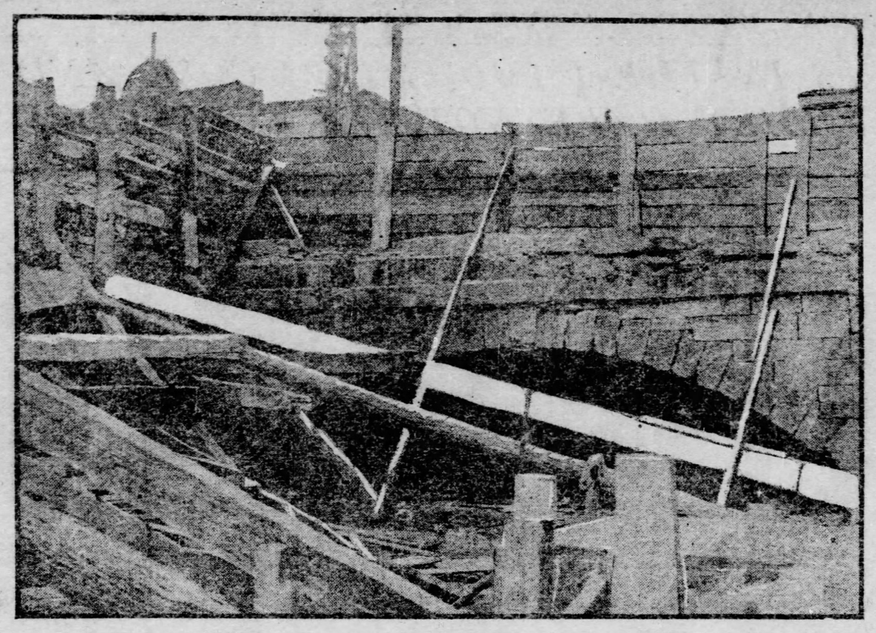
The companies are all represented and the regimental officers were here. This forenoon Col. Barnett, Lieut. Col. Bierer and Maj. Neff were captured by a lot of their comrades at the market house and were forced to address the crowd. The crowd clamored for speeches and Col. Barnett caught their hearts by saying he would rather shake the hand of a Tenth Regiment man that the hand of the president of the United States. This was received with yells of approval and the speakers following indorsed the sentiment.

At 12:30 the parade started at the court house and after traversing the principal streets proceeded to Mountain View park. Arriving at the park they were served with luncheon by the W. C. T. U. and the ladies of the G. A. R.

Badges of special design to commemorate the day were worn by the veterans. The top piece was a celluloid buckle, from which is suspended a picture of the old Capuchin convent, near Malate, converted into a hospital by the Americans, with an inscription "Third annual reunion, Uniontown, Pa., July 31."

Pittsburgh was selected for next year's reunion and all the old state association officers were re-elected. The Regimental association elected Richard Coulter, Jr., of Greensburg, president; Lieut. Gee of Monongahela vice president and Maj. Edward McCormick corresponding secretary. Col. Barnett, Lieut. H. Coulter and A. H. Anderson were appointed a committee on uniforms.

ONE OF THE OLD CANAL ARCHES UNCOVERED BY THE ADVANCE OF PROGRESS IN ALLEGHENY



An Interesting Exhibit of the Days Gone By When the Canal Was the Great Trade Artery.

REMNANTS OF OLD CANAL UNCOVERED

SPLENDID MASONRY WORK COMES TO LIGHT IN ALLEGHENY.

Excavations for the Ft. Wayne's Elevated Tracks Reveal Interesting Reminders of the Day When the Canal Was the Great Highway.

Masonry, brick walls and concrete work in perfect condition 73 years after they were put in place have been unearthed by the contractors building the foundations for the elevated tracks of the Ft. Wayne railroad between Anderson and Federal streets, Allegheny. The work marks the line of the old Pennsylvania canal.

At Federal, Sandusky and Anderson streets masonry and brick arches by which these streets crossed the canal have been disclosed.

Much interest has been shown by old residents in this work and many stories have been recalled of the old days when the canal was the artery of commerce between eastern and western Pennsylvania. The date of the completion of this water highway was October 31, 1829, and there was a great celebration over it at the time. The canal extended as far west as the present Craig street, Allegheny, where it turned and emptied into the Allegheny river by a lock.

On the site of the present Spang, Chalfant & Co. office building in Sandusky street there was a canal warehouse built for that firm and a similar warehouse, first for Louis Bailey Dalzell, and later for the Moorheads, was at the corner of Anderson street, where the Armour building is now.

"Along these warehouses the canal was broadened out and in summer furnished a swimming place, while in winter it was the best of skating rinks," said J. B. Jones, a dealer in iron and steel in Anderson street, Allegheny, yesterday. "I remember the old canal well, as a boy, and I was one of those who enjoyed these pleasures. The Hussey homestead in Cedar avenue had a long lawn reaching to the canal. There were fruit trees in this yard and to steal this fruit was one of the real joys of life for the Allegheny boys of that time."

The work that is being unearthed now shows the durability of the cement and concrete mat originally used in the canal bed. Part of the retaining walls being built for the new Ft. Wayne elevated tracks will rest on this work, for it is as hard as solid rock. The brick arches are as firm as the day they were put into use, but they will be torn out now. They are only about 20 inches below the tracks of the West Penn railroad at the Sandusky and Anderson street crossings. The arches are about 20 feet high. The concrete bed shows the depth of the canal to have been about eight feet, with a width of 20 feet.

The canal rights of way were occupied by the West Penn railroad in 1861. A reminiscence of the old highway is found in the name of the narrow street that runs along its south side. It is still called Canal street.

"ALL A BATCH OF LIES," DECLARES MAY YOHE

That Is Her Answer to Young Strong's Recent Interview—She May Land in Kamtchatka.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

LONDON, July 31.—May Yohe reached here today from Plymouth, where she landed this morning from the Fuerst Bismarck from New York. She was registered on the steamer's passenger list as Mrs. Batchellor. When she was shown an interview with Strong, in which he denied that he had pawned her diamonds, she said:

"That is all a batch of lies. For the $400,000 worth of goods which Strong pawned his brother-in-law, A. R. Shattuck, put up $22,000, out of which I paid $5,000 to Emanuel Friend, my attorney, and $8,110 to pawnbrokers. Strong's story that he paid me back anything is another lie.

"I do not know until I get my mail whether I will go to France or not. I know he is there, but I don't want to have anything to do with him. I have suffered all this outrageous treatment to save his mother and my own. I am eager to get to Genoa, where I have tickets for a tiara, diamond heart and other things he pawned. I have no means whatever. I may land in Kamtchatka before I get through."

When she was shown a statement of Lord Hope's bankruptcy case, mentioning that Hope's counsel disputed a note for £9,187 given to her, Miss Yohe said:

"That's right; the money is due me, and I'll fight for it till I get it."

Since Putnam Bradlee Strong left London he has been in constant telegraphic communication with his friends here and has shown great anxiety to know definitely whether any criminal proceedings against him on the part of May Yohe or others have been taken.

OLD HUMIDITY CAUSED HEAT TO DO EXECUTION

Temperature Reached Only 84, but Death Resulted.

PROSTRATIONS NUMEROUS

Three of Cases Reported Are Serious and Hundreds of Men in Mills Had to Cease Work—Was Felt in the Downtown District.

Humidity was in evidence everywhere yesterday. Men went about the streets bareheaded and perspiring, and when they asked how hot it was and were told not 85, refused to believe it. In the mills and office buildings, where the air got little chance to circulate, the suffering was intense. Out in the open there was not a breath of wind, and the rays of the sun were felt more than usual.

Only one death was attributable to the heat and but three serious cases of prostration were reported, but there were scores of minor cases and hundreds of workmen were compelled to lay off, some for only a few minutes, but most of them for several hours.

The highest point reached by the thermometer was 84, but the heat was so oppressive and the air so heavy and still that it seemed at least 10 degrees warmer.

The list of victims is:

Dead.

J. C. HART, brakeman, 28 years, McKees Rocks, walking on tracks of Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad; overcome by heat and fell backward, fracturing skull. Died in West Penn hospital.

Prostrated.

CARL KIEFLING, Larimer avenue, Turtle Creek, foundryman; overcome by heat at work in foundry at Westinghouse Machine Company, East Pittsburgh; taken home. May recover.

FREDERICK ORTH, Allegheny; prostrated by heat at corner of Tower and East streets, Allegheny. Taken to Allegheny General hospital; serious.

HENRY SHEPHARD, roller; overcome by heat at work in bloom mill, Edgar Thomson steel mills, Braddock. Taken to home, Shady Park, North Braddock; serious.

MUST ANSWER BY SIXTH.

Judicial Order Against Further Delay in United States Steel Corporation Bond Litigation.

NEW YORK, July 31.—(Special.)—Robert H. McCarter, counsel representing Messrs. Hodge, Curtiss and Smith, complainants against the conversion of the $200,000,000 preferred stock issue of the United States Steel Corporation into bonds, appeared before Vice Chancellor Emery in Newark, N. J., today and made a vigorous protest against further delay by the defendants' counsel in filing the amended answer to the amended bill of complaint.

R. W. Lindabury, New Jersey counsel for the steel combine, started on his vacation last night and his partner, Sherard Depue, appeared before the vice chancellor to oppose Mr. McCarter's application. He explained that the delay in obtaining H. C. Frick's affidavit and the amendments to the answer were due to the vacation season.

Vice Chancellor Emery said he believed ample time to file the amended answer had been accorded the defendants and that he would sign an order requiring the answer to be filed by August 6.

WAS ARRESTED FOR ALLEGED SWINDLE

EDWARD E. KEMERER SAID TO HAVE SECURED OVER $100,000.

By Enticing Advertisement and Circular, Karson & Co. Induced Joseph B. Schmidt to Invest Money on Sure Thing That Went Wrong.

Edward E. Kemerer, who has an office in the Schmidt building on Fifth avenue, where he conducts a brokerage business under the name of Karson & Co., was arrested yesterday afternoon by Deputy United States Marshal W. M. Henry upon information made by Postoffice Inspector Frank A. O'Brien before United States Commissioner W. T. Lindsay, charging him with using the mails to defraud. It is believed he has swindled people in this city and vicinity of over $100,000.

Inspector O'Brien received his information from Joseph B. Schmidt of Dresden, O., who claims that he was victimized to the amount of $100. The complant states that a letter was mailed in the Pittsburgh office on May 27 by Karson & Co., addressed to Joseph B. Schmidt, Dresden, O., and that the letter was mailed in pursuance of a scheme to defraud. According to the information received by the postoffice inspector, Kemerer commenced business in this city about April 1 and advertised extensively in the newspapers, the advertisement reading as follows:

"$5 per day, $80 per week. Withdraw on demand. Profits sent each week. A postal card brings particulars. Karson & Co., No. 339 Fifth avenue, Pittsburgh, Pa."

If any one opened up a correspondence a circular was sent assuring the inquirer that no loss could be made.

Smith thought the scheme a good one and sent Karson & Co. $100. When he learned from them later that he had lost his money in the stock market he reported the matter to the postoffice department. At the meeting yesterday Kemerer was held by Commissioner Lindsay in $2,000 bail for a further hearing on August 6.

Little is known of Kemerer. He came from New York about nine months ago. Karson is not known here at all and it is said at the offices that he left some time ago. Diligent inquiry disclosed the fact that he has no financial standing whatever and that Kemerer is the head of the concern, although he asserts that Oscar Orringer, a produce merchant in the Diamond, is a full partner in the business.

Postoffice Inspector O'Brien says that the mail of Karson & Co. was very heavy and that thousands of people have undoubtedly been sufferers.

STRIKE IS THREATENED.

Wage Demand of Pressed Glassware Workers Still Unsettled—Factories Have Orders to Start.

Affairs are in a very unsettled state in the pressed ware branch of the flint glass industry, and a strike is threatened next Sunday. The manufacturers and the committee of the American Flint Glass Workers' union were in conference at Atlantic City, but failed to come to any agreement.

Many of the factories in this vicinity are controlled by the National Glass Company, and orders have been issued to make a start Sunday night. Inasmuch as there is no settlement of the wage question, it is probable that the men will not work, unless some sort of a truce is patched up. The National Glass Company has works in the following towns in this vicinity: Greensburg, Rochester, Jeannette and Indiana. There are independent works at Mt. Pleasant, Homestead, Beaver Falls, Washington, Tarentum, Grapeville and Rochester. None of these have signed a scale.

house was brought up by Attorney Chalfant, who asked several questions. He asked: "Did you not register the dog two days after he was stolen?" "Did you not describe him as St. Bernard and Collie mixed?" "Did you not describe him as having a deformed left hind leg?" "Did you not say he was eight months old and 24 inches high?" It was expected that Attorney Chalfant was going to introduce a copy of the official registration, but he did not.

There was a little bright spot when Attorney Chalfant asked Wendler how he knew his dog was worth $5,000.

Wendler looked as if it was the most unreasonable thing to ask him, and replied, "Because I said he was."

"Did you ever see any $5,000 dogs?" asked the attorney.

"No," replied Wendler, "but I've read of them."

"In the newspapers?"

"Yes, in the newspapers."

The first remark of Mrs. Wendler, when she took the stand, was that she thought as much of the dog as of any child. She said she was positive that the dog before her was her dog, and that all the money in the world could not buy him from her.

How the Dog Treated Mrs. Wendler.

She then called the dog, but he snapped at flies and looked tired. She then examined the dog's mouth, at the request of the squire, and in a most tragic manner exclaimed: "Yes, the wart was there, but it has been cut from his lip." She said that the dog was "a smooth coat rough St. Bernard." The dog on exhibition had hair fully four inches long and was shedding.

George McDonald, Carl Wendler, George McGill and Harry Casey all said they "believed" the dog before them was Wendler's. None would say positively so. When Harry Casey, a telegraph operator, was on the stand saying he also "believed" it was the dog, the question of memory versus a memorandum came up between the attorneys. Attorney Bailey said: "Well, I use my memory. I cannot write very well because my mouth is sore." John Mitchell, who gave his employment as "most anything," also "believed" he knew the dog.

Attorney Bailey then stated that as he had presented a prima facie case it was Squire Creelman's duty to hold Karcher for court. Because of the great value of the dog, which had been firmly established, he said, he would ask that bail be set at $2,000.

Justice Creelman Winced.

Justice Creelman winced when Mr. Bailey said it was not his province to judge the value of the dog, and when the squire said that he had decided to hear the defense Mr. Bailey promptly said that he would call a few more witnesses before submitting the case. Albert Little and Charles Price both said they "believed" it was Wendler's dog, and David Hopkins, a street car conductor, said he was not sure, as all St. Bernard dogs look the same to him.

Laymain Karcher, the accused, was then called to the stand. He had been in the rear of the tent, and when he took the witness chair the dog saw him for the first time. Considerable trouble was occasioned for the young man who had the dog in charge to prevent the brute from going to Karcher.

Karcher told of how he saw a dog advertised for sale in the newspapers and of writing to A. C. Walker, in Sewickley, about the dog. This was early in February. On February 19, after Karcher had been to Sewickley to see the dog, Walker wrote him a postal, which was introduced, stating that he could have the dog for $100. Karcher at once paid down $20 on account. March 1 he paid the balance, $80, and brought the dog home. The receipt for the $80 was introduced.

Karcher Able to Buy Dogs.

Attorney Bailey attempted to belittle Karcher's ability to pay $100 for a dog. This brought out the evidence that Karcher is a craneman in the Pennsylvania tube works, makes $2.25 a day, has his house in Wilkinsburg and property in Vine street, Pittsburgh, and that within a few months Mrs. Karcher's mother died and that she (Mrs. Karcher) is one of two heirs to the estate, which is worth over $25,000.

A. C. Walker, the Sewickley druggist, testified that he had been in business in Sewickley since 1885. He said he bought the dog in question at the Fairlawn Kennels, Seymour, Ind., last fall. He told of advertising the dog for sale and of Karcher's many visits and the final sale, identifying the postal and receipt for money. He bought the dog under the name of "Isaac" and had a pedigree of him running back 19 generations. He told of Wendler coming to see him in regard to the dog in Karcher's possession, and said that Wendler told him that the Karcher dog was not the one that Wendler had lost.

Walker was very indignant at the way Wendler had treated him in the matter. Walker loaned Wendler a picture of the dog he sold Karcher to prove to him that the Karcher dog was not the Wendler dog, and Walker while on the stand demanded of Squire Creelman that Wendler be compelled to produce the picture as evidence. Walker said that he had been unable to get the picture from Wendler.

The Dog Knew Walker.

Walker said that very many dogs had the extra claw, or dewclaw, as it is called, and that seed warts on dogs were the same as on children, coming and going in a mysterious manner.

"Mr. Wendler," said Walker, "wanted me to swear that I could not identify the dog in Karcher's possession as the one sold him by me. I do not do things underhanded. I positively identify the dog here as the dog I sold Mr. Karcher," said Mr. Walker with some feeling.

All of the time Walker was on the stand the dog was uneasy, and both attorneys said "let the dog loose." As soon as the chain was slipped the dog went to Walker and handed him his paw. It was then that 'Squire Creelman said: "Let the dog go up again and shake hands with the witness." Both Mr. and Mrs. Wendler called the dog. While he went to them, as he did to anybody who called him, he did not act as if he cared for either. Even when Mrs. Wendler took his ears in her hands and rubbed her mouth against the dog's nose, he did not appear to want to kiss her.

Harry Holmes of No. 632 Peebles street, and his wife, next door neighbors to the Karchers, testified that the dog in question was brought home by Karcher on March 1, and that they had seen and heard him every day and night since. They fixed the date by the high water in the rivers. Mrs. William Reilley, a sister of Mrs. Karcher, first saw the dog on March 2, and she, too, had seen the dog daily.

Attorney Chalfant spoke a few words for his client and Attorney Bailey demanded that the defendant be held for court. The squire remided them both that he wanted "but few words," and almost before Attorney Bailey sat down announced that his decision was that Mr. Karcher be discharged. Then there was the loudest cheer that has been heard in Wilkinsburg since the last election.

Afterward Mr. Bailey said it was the intention of his client to carry the case further. Attorney Chafant said in the course of his remarks there is another mode of procedure. That is for Wendler to replevin the dog, if he still thinks it is his. A friend of his said he would do nothing more.

MUTINOUS FEELING ON THE MAYFLOWER

Desertions Frequent and 70 Waiting to Take French Leave Executive Officer Too Strict.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., July 31.—Some trouble has developed on the Mayflower, President Roosevelt's official yacht. In a few days nine desertions have occurred among the crew. A member of the crew said today that not fewer than 70 men on board are awaiting a favorable opportunity after pay day to take "French leave." The men assert that the executive officer of the ship, Lieut. Commander W. Phelps, is overbearing and tyrannical. The men are proud to be aboard the president's official vessel, but they declare they cannot endure the racking discipline forced upon them by Lieut. Phelps.

The president's guests today were Postmaster General Payne, Gov. [illegible] H. Hunt and Attorney General [illegible] of Porto Rico, Minister Newell [illegible] Hague, Adolph S. Ochs and George Sheldon, a New York banker [illegible] sonal friend of President Roosevelt. Hunt told the president that the Porto Ricans, having already improved the condition by the annexation of the island to the United States, are anxious to establish yet closer relations, particularly in commercial matters.

New Arrivals in Queen Quality Shoes.

The people in Boston who make Queen Quality Shoes are great friends of that good English word—Push.

Here they are sending us a fine lot of women's dull kid Colonials, finished with neat gun-metal buckle—the handsomest low-cut shoe of the season.

Any other low-cut shoes that could claim equality with this Colonial would cost $4 the pair. But this Queen Quality Colonial sells for the extra small price of $3.

It certainly is a beautiful foot-dress.

Our stock of Queen Quality Oxfords is complete—something like twenty numbers, comprising all the diversified styles in oxfords. Every feminine width and length. Most of them $2.50—a few styles to which an extra touch has been given, $3.

If you are going away for any length of time it will be the wise thing to take along a pair of boots and a pair of oxfords. The two pairs will cost you but $5.50. However, if you don't take them along, and find yourself during vacation in need of a pair, just write us, giving particulars as to size and style, and we will see that you get them by returned mail. Shoes are mailable, you know.

Our Misses' and Children's Shoe Department is brim full of just the right shoes for young feet. We have a hobby that we are riding very hard. It is the natural foot last for children's wear. Growing feet require more attention, as to fitting shoes, than feet that are matured. Our delight is in giving young people a perfect fit—and a comfortable one.

Sold an enormous lot of Bare-Foot Sandals this Summer. It is a sensible fad. Sizes for women, misses and children. Inexpensive.

Something That Will Engage the Attention of Women at Once—Silk Dresses Less Than the Price of Cotton.

Women must not lose sight of the fact, notwithstanding these are the days devoted to clearing away Summer goods, that we are just as keen in the matter of buying new goods as at any other time of the year. Manufacturers are cleaning their stocks, and we help them—whenever they accept our offers. And they do not often refuse.

Here is a sample in these two lines of new silk dresses. Just new in the department—sold much below regular prices.

SHEPHERD CHECK SILK DRESSES $14—Original price $22—Just 35 of them. The last of the material is now made up, and made up prettier than ever before.

To women who were disappointed in not seeing the first lot we suggest coming as early today as possible—35 dresses like these will not be with us long.

Such combinations of checks as black and white and blue and white. There are also fine hairline stripes in black and white.

All seams on skirt, and many on waist, are catch stitched, and tucks, folds and buttons, complete a striking and withal elegant costume.

And they are going to be as much in vogue in October as they are today. Paris says so.

SATIN FOULARD SUITS $10—Original price $15.—The price does not, even in a minor degree, convey an idea of the real worth of these dresses, any more than a description will show their style and beauty.

We have an even hundred, and will have no more for less than $15.

These dresses are of Silk Foulard in the correct shade of blue, black and white, with rings, dots of various sizes and arrangements, some stripes and a few large patterns.

Waists are made with tucks on back, fronts and sleeves—the new sleeve on all of them. Many have large mould buttons, others have stitches and midget buttons. Skirts are flared or flounced. All in all the greatest dress offer that has ever been made.

PENN AND FIFTH.

QUAY'S SERVICES TO THIS STATE ARE INVALUABLE

James M. Swank's Response to Reference by Judge Pennypacker.

POINTS TO EDITORIALS.

They Are Full of Tributes to the Senior Senator for What He Has Done in Political Campaigns and in Congress to Save Protection.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Philadelphia, Pa., July 31.—In the course of an interview yesterday Judge Pennypacker said:

"Ask Swank who it is he would select to do the most efficient and effective work in any matter referring to the iron and steel industries. His answer would be 'Senator Quay.'"

James M. Swank, general manager of the American Iron and Steel association, who is referred to by the judge, when seen by a reporter this afternoon, declared himself unable to give a special interview on the subject because of its breadth; but expressed his willingness to furnish editorials of the Bulletin of the American Iron and Steel association, in which he had written his opinion of Senator Quay. A few excerpts from these articles follow:

"Soon after the nomination of Gen. Harrison in June, 1888, Senator Quay, who had entered the senate in March, 1887, and whose reputation as a wise political manager had preceded him, was made chairman of the Republican national committee. The task set for him was the election of Gen. Harrison and a Republican house of representatives. He accomplished both of these objects. The country rang with his praises. Everybody conceded that without his skillful leadership the battle for protection would have been lost, for New York, the pivotal state, was carried for Harrison by only about 13,000 plurality.

"Senator Quay's assistance was invaluable in securing the adoption of 'the rates of duty which were embraced in the McKinley bill as it passed the house.'

"Senator Quay's part in securing the defeat of the Wilson tariff bill in 1894 and the substitution of higher rates of duty for hundreds of its practically free trade provisions was of inestimable value.

"Kelley and Randall are dead, but Senator Quay, who so valiantly took up the battle for the industries of his native state when the strength of these giants killed them, is still living, and as a senator for four more years, he will still have these industries in his keeping. It would seem that common, every-day gratitude would now lead the manufacturers of Pennsylvania to manfully stand by the man who has so faithfully stood by them.

"In all our acquaintance with public men we do not know one who, at all times, has been more mindful of the country's industrial interests and who has been more ready to respond to calls for help from the representatives of these interests than Senator Quay of Pennsylvania."

Asked what was his opinion of the interview with Judge Pennypacker, Mr. Swank replied: "Oh, well, I'm a Republican and agree with the judge. I know him personally and like him."

MOTHER DESERTED HER INFANT SON.

The crying of an infant in Scott's hotel at First avenue and Smithfield street revealed a pathetic incident yesterday afternoon. A young mother deserted her 10-day-old baby boy, only after a heartbreaking effort to do so.

At 1 o'clock a stylishly-dressed young woman entered the hotel and registered as Mrs. Thomas Jackson. She said she was from this city and told the clerk that she had missed the train and would be compelled to wait until 5 o'clock for another. The young mother paid for the room in advance, and was taken to the third floor.

Shortly after 3 o'clock, a niose of crying was heard from the room assigned to Mrs. Jackson, and a porter attempted to enter the room. The door was locked, and he broke into the room. The mother was gone, and the child was on the bed.

Word was sent to the police station, but the officers decided to leave the child there until later in the evening, thinking that its mother would come for it. It was then learned that one of the maids in the hotel saw the mother leave the place. She was weeping bitterly and remained in the hall at the some time before she was able to leave. She sobbed as she walked to the stairway. The maid thought nothing of it, until the discovery of the child was made.

The mother was careful about leaving it. She had laid it on the bed so it could not roll off, placing pillows and the bed clothing about it. Officer Edward Kennelly last night took the infant to the Central police station, where it was placed in the matron's care.

WAS SO ANGRY THAT HE CHOSE THE JAIL

Braddock Constable, Who Was at Chicken Fight, Wants to Know Who Told.

Charged with cruelty to animals, Edward McNalley of Braddock, was committed to the Allegheny county jail last night by Justice A. J. Needing of Millvale on the information of James S. Bell of the Humane society for a hearing Saturday morning.

McNalley is a constable in Braddock, and permitted himself to be committed to jail for the purpose of determining who was guilty of informing on a party of chicken fighters of which he was one. Last month there was a cocking main in Millvale. McNalley was present, and it is alleged that he owned some of the chickens.

Everyone was cautioned to keep the affair secret, and the spectators had confidence in each other. Through some unknown source James S. Bell of the Humane society learned of the fight and the promoters of the affair.

An information was made against Constable McNalley, charging him with cruelty to animals. He was taken before the justice, but was so indignant to learn that some one of the party had "leaked" that he refused to accept bail. He wants to find out who the informer was.

Constable George Anderson, who is in Justice Needing's office, refused to take McNalley to the jail and James S. Bell was compelled to do so himself.

THREE NEW PRESIDING ELDERS ARE TO BE CHOSEN IN OCTOBER

Coming Session of the Pittsburgh Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church Will Be of More Than Usual Interest.

The formal announcement of the annual meeting of the Pittsburgh conference of the Methodist Episcopal church has been sent to the ministers in the several districts of the conference. The conference will convene Thursday morning, October 9, in the West End church, Bishop J. N. Fitzgerald of St. Louis, presiding. None of the ministers, according to the rules of the Methodist church, are certain that they will be in the same pastorates next year. There are always in the neighborhood of 60 or 70 pastoral changes made at each session of the Pittsburgh conference.

REV. DR. E. J. KNOX.

The chief interest that attaches to the coming conference, however, is found in the fact that the terms of three of the presiding elders whose districts are embraced by the Pittsburgh conference expire this year, and these important places will have to be filled. Those whose terms expire are the Rev. Dr. E. J. Knox, presiding elder of the Allegheny district; the Rev. Dr. William P. Turner, presiding elder of the Blairsville district, and the Rev. Dr. James A. Vallantyne of the McKeesport district.

REV. DR. W. P. TURNER.

The Rev. Dr. T. N. Boyle, presiding elder of the Pittsburgh district, has three more years yet to serve. Dr. Boyle succeeded the Rev. Dr. B. F. Beazell, now of Blairsville. It was learned on good authority yesterday that the Rev. Dr. S. T. Mitchell, pastor of the Franklin Street church, Johnstown, will be appointed to the eldership of the Blairsville district and will be stationed at Greensburg.

The Rev. Dr. E. M. Wood is prominently mentioned for the eldership of the Allegheny district. With the exception of the special interest in these important appointments, it is said there is nothing of unusual interest to come before this year's session. There are four districts embraced in the Pittsburgh conference, Pittsburgh, Allegheny, McKeesport and Blairsville, and there are over 200 ministers in these districts.

PLANNING FOR THE BIG CELEBRATION

COMMITTEES NAMED FOR M'KEESPORT'S BIG JOLLIFICATION.

Labor Day Will Be Made Date, If It Is Convenient for Schwab and Roosevelt. Mardi Gras Carnival to Be Held in the Evening.

The executive committee recently appointed in McKeesport to take action in regard to the coming jollification over securing the $10,000,000 tube mill held an enthusiastic meeting last night in Lyceum hall, McKeesport. T. C. Jones presiding. It was decided, if convenient to President Roosevelt and President Charles M. Schwab of the United States Steel Corporation, to have the celebration on Labor Day, September 1.

In case President Roosevelt accepts the invitation and the day set is not convenient, it will be fixed at the convenience of the president. It was decided to hold a big industrial parade in the morning to include the labor and military organizations, secret societies, civic orders and all the working men in the city.

In the afternoon a big picnic will be held in Olympia park, the Pittsburgh, McKeesport & Connellsville Street Railway Company having promised to furnish special cars. During the afternoon speeches will be made. If he is present, President Roosevelt will make the address of the day.

The evening celebration will be in the form of a mardi gras celebration, including fireworks, etc. A finance committee consisting of one man from each ward was appointed last night, also parade, picnic, mardi gras, transportation, speakers', printing and invitation committees, to contain five men each.

A special committee consisting of James, Evans, E. P. Douglas and A. B. Campbell was appointed to visit President Roosevelt and the officials of the United States Steel Corporation and use its best endeavors to have them accept the invitation.

All business places, saloons, mills, factories, etc., will be closed during the day, and the promoters hope to make it the greatest celebration in the history of McKeesport.

Negro Accused of Murder.

Ernest Moore, a Homestead negro, was arrested yesterday by Chief of Police Noble on information received from the police of Ashtabula, O. The message stated that Will Mash, a young negro who was shot in a scuffle during an excursion of negroes at Ashtabula last week, had died from his wounds and that Moore, of Homestead, was thought to be the man who fired the fatal shot. Moore was employed by a Homestead undertaker and when arrested seemed to be but little interested. He will be held until the Ashtabula officers come for him.

THE KEENAN FOUNTAIN READY FOR THE THIRSTY

Another of Moretti's Works of Art Finds a Place in Highland Park.

The first public drinking fountain in Pittsburgh parks was placed in position yesterday in Highland park. It is a gift to the city from Col. T. J. Keenan and stands at the head of the flight of steps leading from Bunker Hill street to the park, at the car barns, the point of entrance for fully 75 per cent of the visitors to the park.

The granite base is surmounted by the recumbent figure of a child with its head resting in a listening attitude upon an enormous sea shell from the interior of which the water gushes forth. The entire upper portion of the fountain is chiseled from a single block of fine white Carrara marble, weighing 10,000 pounds. It is the work of Moretti, the well-known Italian sculptor, who designed the works at both entrances to Highland park, the Foster monument and other works of art in this and other cities.

Moretti considers the Keenan fountain one of the finest of his smaller works and has given the appropriate name of "Echo" to the design. Yesterday Recorder J. O. Brown received from Col. Keenan the following letter in reference to the fountain:

"Dear sir—In fulfillment of a promise made some time ago, I ask the privilege of presenting to the city of Pittsburgh, through you, a drinking fountain to Highland park. The fountain has been placed in a spot designated by the director of public works and will be ready for the public use on Sunday next. Director McCandless has been kind enough to suggest some public ceremonial in connection with the dedication of the fountain, but it is my personal wish that nothing of the kind take place. My gift is a very modest one and it will be a sufficient dedication to turn the water on."

M'CLELLAND NO LONGER ON THE POLICE FORCE

The Downtown Captain Received His Peremptory Dismissal.

GRAFT IS NOT TOLERATED

So Says Director A. H. Leslie in Discussing McClelland's Case—Organization Politicians Protest Against His Being Longer Retained.

Police Captain George B. McClelland was dismissed from the service of the city yesterday on the peremptory order of Recorder Brown. The order was carried into effect by Director Leslie of the department of public safety, under whose supervision the bureau of police comes.

McClelland accepted his dismissal without a word of protest, not even demanding a reason, so far as is known. He probably concluded that recent publications concerning him were strong enough to make it unnecessary for him to ask for reasons. When a police officer is discharged it is usually the rule that a formal trial is had on charges preferred. Nothing of that kind was had in McClelland's case. He was simply told that he must go. And he went.

"Graft" Is Not to Be Tolerated.

Afterward Director Leslie took occasion to say that he would not tolerate "graft" in any form whatever on the part of employes in the bureau of police.

The dismissal of McClelland has been under consideration for some time. Many complaints were lodged against him. The department was continually being criticised on account of his questionable transactions. One of his superior officers told a Gazette reporter yesterday that he would have been discharged long ago, "only he was only under suspicion then and the department could not dismiss him for that reason."

The complaints became so numerous, finally, that Director Leslie was forced to order an investigation. The finding proved so conclusively that McClelland had been guilty of conduct unbecoming an officer that there was nothing to do but dismiss.

Organization Men Protested.

While this investigation was being carried on several members of the organization called on Recorder Brown and suggested that there was too much being published about McClelland and that it would be a good thing to remove him—that through him too much odium was being reflected on the organization. These solicitous ones were assured by Recorder Brown that McClelland would be removed as Brown coincided with them in their views regarding McClelland's conduct being a detriment to the organization.

Yesterday morning McClelland was called in to see Superintendent of Police McAleese. McAleese handed him a letter he had received from Director Leslie, reading as follows:

"Dear Sir—You are hereby directed to notify Capt. George B. McClelland that his services will be no longer required on and after August 1, in the bureau of police in the department of public safety."

Director Leslie Talked.

Director Leslie, when asked for reasons for McClelland's discharge said:

"I do not like to discuss this affair. It must be distinctly understood that this department will not tolerate 'graft,' whether it be carried on in the way of borrowing money or any other. We do not propose to be dragged into and besmirched by anything of the kind.

"There have been complaints standing for some time against McClelland, and we have conducted an investigation that satisfied us he ought not to be continued in the employ of the department.

"Investigation of charges aimed at the police has not developed evidence of direct levies on any person, but some things were disclosed that we cannot countenance. McClelland has stated that he had no idea of doing anything wrong, and owing to his past services in the police and fire bureaus there existed a disposition for some time to deal more leniently with him than has been done. I want to say for McClelland that he was always an energetic officer.

"The employes of this department are paid enough to keep them in comfort, if they live properly, and we do not propose they shall adopt methods of increasing their incomes open to just criticism.

"No charges were formally filed against McClelland and there was no formal hearing. The discharge was peremptory."

Other Dismissals Rumored.

It was rumored yesterday that other dismissals would follow. Detectives William Shore, Charles McGovern and Bernard McStay were said to be under consideration for discharge. Director Leslie denied this, and said he had no intention of making any removals in this bureau, or in any other bureau.

There was a general conference yesterday morning between Recorder Brown and the several directors.

It is said that nothing about removals was discussed. Another report is that, about August 15, when nearly all the head officials will be away on vacations, some removals will be announced.

It is not known who will succeed McClelland. Capt. C. A. Gallant of No. 5 police district will be brought to No. 1 station temporarily. Patrolman Edward Kennelly is said to be in line of promotion and will probably be advanced as a lieutenant in one of the other districts, and McClelland's successor taken from that rank.

BRIDEGROOM SUED FOR WEDDING BEER

Postponed Payment on Plea That Guests Failed to Contribute, But They Deny It.

The aldermen of Braddock are called upon frequently to adjust difficulties arising at the numerous Slavish and Hungarian weddings. The wedding celebrations usually last three or four days and, consequently, a large amount of liquor is required to keep the guests in the proper spirit. To cover the cost of refreshments the guests are called upon to contribute, and, as a rule, their offerings are liberal, the surplus over the cost of the goods going to the bride as a dowry.

Another custom is that each guest must pay for the privilege of dancing with the bride. This distinction is eagerly sought and the money for the privilege is thrown on a plate or in a pan in the center of the room. So profitable has this become that some enterprising ones have taken advantage of their countrymen's love for old country customs and a number of mock weddings are said to have been held recently.

One of the last Slavish weddings held in Braddock has produced a law suit, and is now in the hands of Justice Frank T. Redman awaiting a settlement. Staney Klumsek, a young Slav, was married a week ago, and to celebrate purchased $45 45 worth of beer and liquor from Anton Pator, a Braddock liquor dealer, for which he promised to pay after the wedding and after the guests had contributed. When the ceremony was over and the liquor man's collector called for the money Klumsek claimed the guests had failed to contribute, and he would have to wait for his money. It was afterwards learned that a large sum had been raised at the wedding and Pator entered suit. At the hearing yesterday nearly 100 of the guests were called as witnesses that they had contributed.

WEST VIRGINIA SOON TO HUSTLE PENNSYLVANIA

Is Now Next to Illinois in Record of Coal-Producing States.

HAS BRILLIANT FUTURE

Senator Elkins Says He Is Putting More Money Into Such Property—Railroad Developments Now On Will Have Great Influence.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Baltimore, July 31.—In an interview in this week's issue of the Manufacturers' Record, United States Senator Stephen B. Elkins of West Virginia says:

"West Virginia is next to Illinois in the coal producing states and it is not very far behind that, and from the railroad development that is going on, before many years she will give Pennsylvania quite a hustle for position. England's great prosperity has been made from her coal and iron, and the greatest fortunes of her so-called barons have come from these sources. West Virginia is full of coal, oil and timber. The coal is the best property one can have; it even beats New York real estate.

"I am out of the West Virginia Central now, for we sold that to people who are going to extend it to the Little Kanawha, and some day that is going to be connected with the Wabash. There is quite a gap to be filled between the line at Cumberland and the Western Maryland railroad, but the boys that have it in hand now will not take very long to make that connection, and in the meantime both of these lines are paying for themselves and have a big fortune before them.

Buys More Coal Lands.

"I am still buying coal lands, for, as I have said before, that is the best property one can have, and some day there will be built the line known as the Coal & Iron railroad that will help to deliver the product of West Virginia at tidewater. There is going to be plenty of work for all the railroads that will be built, and there will be a profit to them, because the demand for coal is going to be great enough to avoid the necessity of any cut rates for carrying it. I don't fear the Baltimore & Ohio, the Chesapeake & Ohio nor the Norfolk & Western for they have got all they can do, and they will have plenty to do to take care of the tonnage that will come from the development along their lines.

"According to the report of the chief mine inspector of West Virginia, the production of coal last year was 23,816,424 tons, and when the great operations of the United Steel Corporation and others down in the Pocahontas district are fully under way it will not be surprising to find a tonnage of 35,000,000 or 40,000,000 as the yearly product. Some of the largest of the Pennsylvania operators of both the hard and soft coal districts are putting their money down in that part of the country because they know what the future of it is likely to be. By the way, it will not be surprising some day to find that the Southern railway is pulling out a lot of coal from the Virginias."

Increase in Coal Production.

These West Virginia evidences of what Senator Elkins regards as good times ahead for the south are phases of the development which has been marked by an increase in the production of bituminous coal in the United States from 5,-759,000 tons in 1880, to 42,000,000 in 1880 and to probably 250,000,00 tons this year, and the production of pig iron from 380,-000 tons in 1880, less than one-third of the present output in the south alone, to about 2,500,000 tons in 1880 and to 17,000,00 or 18,000,000 tons this year.

And West Virginia and Virginia are fully carrying out their part of the prediction made in 1890 in the Manufacturers' Record by Mr. Edward Atkinson, who, reviewing the increase in iron and steel consumption and pointing to the time when the productive capacity of the iron works of the United States would be pushed to their utmost capacity to meet home and foreign demand, referred to the southern Appalachian region, extending from West Virginia to Alabama and especially to Western Carolina, Southwest Virginia, Eastern Tennessee and Eastern Kentucky as possibly the future sites of the principal iron producers of the world. The world revolutionizing discoveries of Bessemer ores in the Mesaba district changed the situation for the time, but the fundamental facts regarding the territory to which Mr. Atkinson referred have not changed and at last that region is to be fully opened up.

Richness of the Region.

Many experts claim that there is no other section in this country so richly endowed with high grade coking coal in seams that run at times to as much as 10 feet, fine Bessemer and other iron ores and timber, as is this region in which Western Carolina, Southwest Virginia, Kentucky and Tennessee meet.

As a result of efforts begun 15 or 20 years ago to develop this section the Charleston, Cincinnati & Chicago railroad, afterward known as the Ohio River & Charleston, was built in sections. After the failure of the financial backing of that enterprise and its consequent receivership, the portion extending from Marion, N. C., to Camden, S. C., 171 miles, was purchased by the Southern Railway, with the prospect of extending it northwestwardly to the coal fields of Virginia and Kentucky. The portion of the line from Johnson City, Tenn., to Huntdale, N. C. was some months ago purchased by a syndicate which also obtained control of 118,000 acres of coal land to be opened up by the extension of this road. A deal has now been arranged by which these coal lands and this section of the railroad have passed to interests identified with the Seaboard Air Line, and the extension of the road to Lincolnton on the south and to Toms Creek in Wise county, Va., will be actively pushed. The completion of these extensions, it is expected, within a year, will give a direct outlet to tidewater at Wilmington and Southport, N. C., for the vast mineral wealth of Southwest Virginia, while it is intended that eventually an extension shall be made from Toms Creek through the "breaks" of the Big Sandy river and thence on to Ashland, Ky., and Ironton, Ohio, connecting at the latter place with the Detroit Southern road, of which Mr. Samuel Hunt is president, he also being president of the Ohio River & Charleston.

Connects Lakes and Sea.

Thus this line will become the connecting link through one of the greatest mineral and timber regions of America, with the lakes on one side and the Atlantic on the other.

There are evidences that the Atlantic Coast Line may also have an extension into the same fuel region and with the Norfolk & Western and the Louisville & Nashville already reaching a considerable portion of it, and the Seaboard extending its line through it, the Southern and other roads will doubtless press forward and take an equally prominent part in the opening up of a region which can furnish sufficient traffic to tax the resources of all the roads that may get into that territory. Somewhere in that region will probably be seen the building of furnaces and steel plants and the creation of cities which may rival the progress and prosperity of Birmingham and out of that section will be poured a vast traffic in coal and iron and ore, in timber, marbles and other products.

In the meantime Alabama is pushing forward its iron and coal developments, stimulated to the utmost activity by the great demand which has resulted in nearly all Alabama furnaces, having lately sold a large part of their output for the first six months of next year. Never before have the iron and coal interests of the state been so prosperous, with so bright a future.

WILL ASK COUNCILS TO TAKE SOME ACTION

Booth & Flinn Have Switch Track Near Liberty Avenue Market That Does Not Belong There.

Common council will be asked to force the city government to have Booth & Flinn remove the old switch track that they used in the building of the Liberty avenue market house. Common Councilman Charles C. Schaad had a conference with Director J. Guy McCandless yesterday about it, and then conferred with Controller John B. Larkin. The controller told Mr. Schaad he could not help him and Director McCandless told him he would not help him, and Mr. Schaad will go to councils about the matter.

When Booth & Flinn were shipping brick to the market house they constructed a temporary switch track there, or rather they constructed what was said at the time to be a temporary switch track. It has since become permanent. Repeated requests have been made to the city government to have Booth & Flinn remove the track, as they never got a permit for it in the first place, and as it can no longer be of any use to them.

The department of public works is said to have impersonally mentioned to Booth & Flinn at one time that the switch track ought to be removed. Nothing was said that could have been offensive. The request was meekly made and the contractors said they would think it over.

This was some months ago and the "thinking over" has occupied a great deal of time. Councilman Schaad had some business to transact near the market house several days ago, and the switch track hampered him a great deal, just as it had hampered others in the past. He came in yesterday to see Director McCandless. The director tried to parley about the matter, but Mr. Schaad had made up his mind to force some action if possible, as he has become acquainted with the method the city government has of doing business.

Director McCandless finally said he would have nothing to do with it and told Mr. Schaad he would have to go elsewhere. The refusal was flat and Councilman Schaad was a very angry man as he walked into the office of Controller John B. Larkin and stated the case to him.

"I would like to help you if I could," said the controller, "but it is entirely out of my jurisdiction, and I cannot see where my interference would result in any good to you. That is a matter for councils, now that the director refuses to do anything. I would advise you to take it there."

"That is just what I will do," said Councilman Schaad. "I am tired of having reasonable requests ignored in city hall, as they are done. This is the only office in the building where one can get attention on any business. It is time there is a change in methods."

The resolution will probably be directed at Recorder J. O. Brown, as the people who want the track removed refuse to do any more business with Director McCandless. They say they cannot rely upon his obeying the order anyway and think they may be able to accomplish something through Recorder Brown.

HURRY-UP CALL SOUNDED.

President Francis J. Torrance of Pittsburgh Exposition Warns Exhibitors to Be in Time.

President Francis J. Torrance is most anxious that the opening night of the new Pittsburgh exposition, Wednesday, September 3, shall find exhibits absolutely completed. Last year, amid the hurry attending the work of new construction, there was much unavoidable delay in preparing booths and displays, but this year Mr. Torrance feels that this excuse is not valid, and that, therefore, exhibitors without exception should strain every nerve to have a finished presentation on the expesition's first day.

Indications are that the opening night will see present a throng even larger than last year. The out-of-town patronage will, it is expected, be unprecedented, and, in short, the outlook is that the entire season will be the banner one in the society's history. Wherefore Mr. Torrance makes personal appeal to every exhibitor to begin work at the earliest moment possible and to make preparation for the finest and most comprehensive displays yet seen in this city.

Boycott Bell Telephones.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., July 31.—(Special.)—The Retail Grocers' association last night adopted resolutions that hereafter they would use but one telephone in their places of business, adopting the Youngstown Telephone Company (independent), as against the Bell.

Negro Held Responsible.

CAMDEN, N. J., July 31.—The coroner's jury today held James Bland, a negro, responsible for the death of John Morrissey of Philadelphia, who was shot and killed during the Republican congressional primary election riot last Monday night.

A Curious Identification.

The man struck down by the electric cars on Fifth avenue yesterday was identified by a bank book found in his pocket bearing the name of the Standard Security Trust Company, 209-213 Fourth avenue.

His temporary sojourn in the hospital will cause him no worry as his bank book shows him to be "nicely fixed," as is everyone who possesses a 4 per cent interest-bearing savings account.

Out-of-town depositors find banking by mail very convenient.

"STRAIGHTOUTS" WANT SOLDIERS ON THE TICKET

Old Organization of '91 Campaign Has Been Rejuvenated.

WILL NAME CANDIDATES

None Has Been Chosen Yet, But Full Ticket Will Be Made Out Later—Aggressive Campaign Is Planned For Next Two Elections.

Attorneys John S. Robb and Arch H. Rowand yesterday filed a petition in common pleas court No. 1 for the exclusive use of a name for a new political party. The appellation is the "Straightout Party." It is set forth that the purpose is to nominate candidates for judge of common pleas court No. 1, orphans' court, register of deeds, register of wills, treasurer, controller, sheriff, clerk of courts, director of the poor and two county commissioners to be voted for at the election next November.

The signers to the petition are John S. Robb, W. J. Bailey, A. Gottlieb Luty, John C. Matthews, R. C. Anderson, George R. Beecher and J. T. McGuire.

Proud of Their Army Records.

Attached to the petition was a typewritten sheet showing the regiments most of the signers served with during the civil war, as follows: Rowand, First West Virginia cavalry; Bartley, One Hundred and Thirty-ninth Pennsylvania; Luty, Seventy-fourth New York; Matthews, Sixty-first Pennsylvania; Anderson, One Hundred and Thirty-ninth Pennsylvania; Beecher, Forty-sixth Pennsylvania; Maguire, Third West Virginia. Three of the signers, Rowand, Luty and Matthews, are what are known as "medal of honor" men—that is, they wear the honor medal that congress confers for special service or marked gallantry on the field of battle.

The "Straightout party" is not really a new party. It is what might be called a rejuvenated party. It was first heard of on July 25, 1891, when it organized and instituted a particularly warm fight in Allegheny county.

Rowand Tells What Is Wanted.

Arch H. Rowand, in speaking of it last night, said:

"Eleven years ago the 'Straightouts' fought the city gang and we made a good fight, although we did not win out. The seed, sown at that time, however, was reaped by the Citizens party last February.

"I am simply in this movment with the understanding that four soldiers shall be on the ticket, including three civil war veterans and one Spanish war veteran—possibly two from the latter class. These men must be clean cut and stand well in the community in which they have been born and raised.

"There are 5,000 civil war veterans in this county and 2,000 Spanish war veterans, and yet there is not a soldier of either class on the ring or fusion tickets. I have refused to go along on the 'Straightout' movement unless they recognize the veterans of the civil war and the Spanish war, and while the ticket has not yet been made up, and no names have been suggested, I am sure that the soldier idea I have outlined will be carried out.

Farmer Is to Have a Place.

"We canvassed the entire county before we presented the certificate to the court, and are satisfied that the situation is favorable. While we are the last to file a certificate, we will try to verify scripture by being first in the finish.

"There has been a large number of names suggested for the various offices on the ticket, but no one has been decided upon thus far. We have, however, practically decided that there shall be a farmer of recognized prominence on the ticket for county commissioner. We also expect to nominate a candidate for city recorder next spring, and in other words, the 'Straightout Party' has come here to stay. We have been taking a little nap since 1891, but we are now refreshed, wide awake and vigorous, and we propose to make ourselves of some importance in the next political contest."

While Mr. Rowand did not say so, it is understood that when the ticket of the "Straightouts" is framed, he will insist that his particular friend, Judge Edwin H. Stowe, nominated by the Republicans to succeed himself as judge in common pleas court No. 1, shall be the candidate of the "Straightouts" for that place. In this he will be assisted by Mr. Robb, another warm admirer of Judge Stowe. Mr. Robb, by the way, is the only one without a war record, whose name is on the application.

Farmers Are Fearful for Stone

There are some who say that one of the primary objects of the movement is to strengthen Judge Stowe's position, the fear being expressed in some quarters that the determined assault being made on the organization ticket by the Citizens' party may result in the defeat of Judge Stowe along with other organization candidates.

The first meeting at which formal action was had with regard to the formation of the "Straightout Party" was held on July 17, when 78 well-known citizens who are said to favor something in the political line in Allegheny county that shall be "betwixt and between the view points held by the rival organizations in Sixth avenue and Third avenue," as one of the leaders put it—the machine and the Citizens—decided to revive the old organization of 1891.

Are Waiting on Robb.

Mr. Rowand could not state when the next meeting of his associates in the "Straightout Party" would be held, as John S. Robb is out of the city for a few weeks, and it is not known when he will return.

Maguire and Rowand were scouts under General Milroy, in 1862 and 1863, in West Virginia, and Matthews was a color sergeant and acted with great bravery on a certain occasion.

YEAR SURPLUS NOW ESTIMATED AT $28,000,000

That Is For the 12 Months Beginning With First of July.

SECRETARY SHAW'S GUESS

A Small Deficit For Month Just Ended, on Account of Extraordinary Expenses—Customs Receipts Make a Good Showing.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU, 633 Fifteenth St., N. W., WASHINGTON, D. C., July 31.

Notwithstanding the repeal of the war taxes and of the heavy expenses of the government, the general prosperity of the country continues to such an extent that Secretary Shaw estimated this afternoon that the opening fiscal year would show at least $25,000,000 surplus in the treasury department. The first month, July, closed today with a deficit of $7,498,308, but the secretary said this was not discouraging. On the other hand, he was very much pleased with the outlook for a comfortable surplus for the coming fiscal year.

In July a year ago the receipts and expenditures just about offset each other, as the expenditures in the first month of the fiscal year are always heavy. The apparently large deficit for this month would have been decidedly small had there not been extraordinary payments during the month.

For instance, the treasury paid to states $3,000,000 in claims arising out of the fitting up of troops for the civil war. There will be no more expenditures of this kind until after the adjournment of the next session of congress.

The receipts from the different sources this month have been as follows: Customs, $24,430,743; internal revenue, $21,618,124; miscellaneous, $3,256,823. In July of last year the receipts from customs were $21,-263,903. Consequently, July of this year shows an increase of over $3,000,000 in customs over the same month a year ago.

In July of last year the receipts from internal revenue were $28,338,160, showing a falling off for July of this year of $6,-720,036. This is a little in excess of the expectations of congress when it reduced the war revenue, the opinion of congress being that the reduction would amount to about $75,000,000 for the year. From an internal revenue standpoint, the outlook for the month would not be extremely good, but the fine showing made by the customs receipts offsets any poor showing in internal revenues.

Should the receipts for the remainder of the year make as good a showing, comparatively, as July, the surplus for the next fiscal year ought to amount to about $25,000,000. CHARLES W. METZGAR.

No Case Against Chivers—A large crowd attended the hearing of John Chivers, the Bridgeville policeman, said to have taken an active part in the riot which followed the ball game between Bridgeville and Carnegie on July 26, on a charge of assault and battery preferred by James Patterson of Carnegie. Patterson said that Chivers kicked him in the stomach without provocation. He claimed that he was a spectator at the game and took no part in the fight. Alderman Vierheller dismissed Chivers. He said there was no evidence that Chivers kicked or otherwise abused Patterson, except the latter's own testimony. Patterson paid the costs.

Shortage Caused Delay—The shortage of water of the Chartiers Water Company resulted in serious delays to eastbound trains of the Pittsburgh, Cincinnati, Chicago & St. Louis railway at Carnegie yesterday morning. When a freight engine tried to take water at Carnegie it was found that the tank supplied by the water company was empty. It was necessary to take the engine to McKees Rocks to obtain a supply. In the meantime the tracks were blockaded and it was several hours before the tangle was again straightened out. The Panhandle yesterday erected hurriedly a pumping station of its own at Carnegie and will draw its water directly from Chartiers creek.

CITY HAS STOPPED WORK ON LINCOLN AVENUE BRIDGE

Councilman George W. McNeill Will Callan Indignation Meeting.

FIERY TALK IN CITY HALL

Director J. Guy McCandless' Explanation Did Not Suit McNeill and Hot Argument Resulted—Administration's Procrastination Resented.

Common Councilman George W. McNeill left city hall yesterday afternoon a very angry man. He had just had a tilt with Director J. Guy McCandless, in which he did not come off second best. Dr. McNeill had uncovered the fact during the day that the city government has stopped work on the Lincoln avenue bridge. Dr. McNeill left the hall to alarm his people, and a big mass meeting there will show that the voters of the Twenty-first ward want that bridge constructed. Dr. McNeill hailed a passing car, saying uncomplimentary things of Director McCandless, and the director was gashing the atmosphere with similar philippics, aimed at his fellow physician.

Director McCandless several days ago stopped work on the Lincoln avenue bridge, which the people of the Twenty-first ward fought for years before they were able to get it. It is practically the only outlet several thousand people have to the city, and the old bridge was dangerous. Director Wilson closed it to traffic more than a year ago. The street cars, and heavily-loaded wagons have been barred off the bridge for more than a year. The contract for this bridge went to the American Bridge Company and they have been working for months. Suddenly the city government stopped the active work, the contractors keeping few men there for the sake of appearances.

Dialogue Was Warm.

Councilman McNeil was looking for trouble when he entered the hall, and he broke in on Director McCandless when that official was just closing up business preparatory to leaving the city last night for Yankeenuck island, Canada, where he will remain until the middle of August. He was behind in his work, and fire was flying a second after Mr. McNeil opened the ball. The latter demanded a reason for stopping work on the bridge, and was informed that the city was preparing to do the work in conjunction with the Pennsylvania railroad, which is preparing to make some improvements there. Dr. McNeil demanded a look at the plans.

"You cannot see them," said the director.

"Why can't I see them?" demanded the irate councilman.

"Because they are not ready yet," said the director.

The controversy continued until Director McCandless said he would have to go down to common council chamber to award some contracts. The dialogue continued in the elevator until the second floor was reached.

Was Again Renewed.

After Director McCandless had concluded his business in common council chamber, he came into the corridor again, and the debate was continued. "Once more," said Dr. McNeil, "I want to see those plans."

"Once more," said the director, "you cannot see them. They are not ready yet."

"There was a set of plans. The contractors certainly did not work for months without plans," returned Dr. McNeil.

"You'll get a look at the plans after they are completed, and you cannot get them before," was the director's next shot, and by that time both combatants had lost their tempers, and were ready for anything.

"Well," said McNeil, "the people of the Twenty-first ward have been bamboozled enough, and we do not propose to stand any more of it. I am going back to my ward to call the people together, and see what can be done. You will hear from councils on this matter. We have bothered with you long enough. I do not propose to stand any more of it."

"I should think you would agree to it when it will benefit the people of your ward."

Could Not See Plans.

"Yes, I will agree to it if it will. But I want to see first whether it will benefit them. That is why I ask for a look at the plans. You people down here in city hall think you are the real thing, and the whole thing, and you will find that you are mistaken. If it will benefit the people of my ward, it is the first thing that has come out of this hall in a long time that will benefit the people of my ward or of any other ward."

Councilman McNeil as he left the building reiterated his intention to call the people of his ward together. "McCandless is talking now," said McNeil, "of connecting the old bridge so that the traction cars can cross it, and waiting to finish the new bridge until the Pennsylvania railroad can make some arrangement with the city. Just what they are trying to do, I do not know. I know that it cannot benefit us very much. I am tired of this procrastination. I am going to call an indignation meeting of the voters in the ward, and see whether we cannot show these people something."

Director McCandless refused to discuss the bridge or the tilt he had had with the Twenty-first ward councilman. "These unpleasant things will occur," he said.

Dr. McNeil had a talk with Controller John E. Larkin before he left for home, and the controller has promised to assist him in every way possible.

Badgerer Who Worked J. C. Swearingen Fined, But Reputed Wife Let Go.

John Q. Major and his reputed wife, who were accused of working the "badger" game on J. C. Swearingen, president of the J. C. Swearingen Ink Company of No. 285 First avenue, were arraigned for a hearing yesterday morning at the Central police station before Magistrate D. J. McGarey. Major was fined $50, and as he was unable to pay, was sent to the workhouse for 30 days.

The woman was discharged, as it was not proven that she knew of the money being secured from Swearingen.

Major went to his home on July 3 and found his wife in the room with Swearingen. He was under the bed and coatless and hatless. Major threatened to sue him and Swearingen compromised the matter by giving Major $200. On Wednesday afternoon he demanded $500 more for his injured feelings and was arrested. Mrs. Major swooned when her name was called at the hearing, and fell into the arms of Detective George Waggoner.

Anthracite Region Turmoil.

Though the presence of the state troops had a wholesome effect in curbing the turbulent spirit in the anthracite region yesterday, there was some further disorder. The Shenandoah riot was not quite as serious in its consequences as first reports indicated, but that fact was not due to any lack of intent on the part of the rioters. President Mitchell and other officers of the mine workers' union called publicly upon strikers to obey and uphold the law, and expressed regret that violence should have been resorted to, but it is a question whether they have much control over the idle foreigners.

As to the effect of the outbreak upon the strike, it is undoubtedly bad for the strikers. Whether due to them directly or to their sympathizers the violent manifestation has the effect of alienating public sympathy. It also has the effect of demoralizing the strikers and dividing them into factions, those that want to fight and those who desire to return to work. This is likely to be more apparent on Monday, when several collieries will resume operations, and that may lead to more disorder.

The situation is distinctly discouraging to the conservatives, who had begun to believe it possible to conduct the strike without serious disturbance. It is, however, but the natural result of causes at work. Large bodies of idle men, approaching a condition of want, with families dependent upon them, are not factors that make for peace. For weeks the laborers have had nothing to do but brood upon their real and fancied grievances and discuss them among themselves. They have reached the point where restlessness has taken possession of them. They are eager for action. There being no work for them they turn their activities against those who would work in the mines. Good counsel has no longer power to restrain them.

It is the beginning of the end of the strike. It may be hoped there will be no worse scenes as the struggle draws to its close, though fear vies with hope on this score. It may be hoped, too, that when it is all over both workers and operators may have learned the lesson of patience, tolerance and mutual concession. The anthracite region has been the scene of such frequent battles between capital and labor and of such constant turmoil that a lasting peace within its boundaries would be hailed with delight by the entire country.

Minister Wu's Postponed Departure.

The genial and inquisitive Wu Ting Fang may unpack his trunks and remain awhile longer with us. The hurry-up orders have been recalled, and he will continue as China's representative in the United States until further notice. How long his stay will be depends upon circumstances. The immediate reason for postponing Minister Wu's departure is the change in the plans of Prince Chen, Chinese envoy to the British king's coronation. Prince Chen expected to arrive in this country on August 1, in company with the new Chinese minister to the United States, Sir Liang Cheng, but the distinguished Celestials will remain in London until the coronation has taken place, and then visit the United States.

Minister Wu is arranging for a call by his fellow countrymen upon President Roosevelt at Oyster Bay. That visit over, the new Chinese minister will see the prince safely back to Peking, where the diplomat will gather up his sons and bring them with him to the United States to obtain the benefits of an American education. This travel will take time. It is quite likely, therefore, that Minister Wu will have charge of his country's affairs in Washington until next January.

In the meantime he will be busy with work in connection with the Chinese indemnity. The American government is again standing between China and some of the greedy European powers, who declare that the indemnity must be paid on a gold basis, while the American understanding was that it was to be paid in silver at the valuation current when the Peking agreement was signed. It will be wise for the Chinese government to permit Minister Wu to remain in Washington until an agreement has been reached on this point, or until it has been referred to The Hague tribunal for settlement.

Demand for Tariff Revision.

In adhering to "the historic policy of the Republican party in giving protection to home industries," and favoring "such changes in the tariff as may become advisable through the progress of our industries and their changing relations to the commerce of the world," the Iowa Republican convention voices the average sentiment of the Republican party of the United States. To use the language of Congressman Smith of Council Bluffs on taking the gavel as temporary chairman:

> The Republican party is wedded to the general principles of a protective tariff, but not to any specific schedule.

A tariff schedule is but the momentary expression of a principle and should not be misunderstood to be the principle itself. For in the changing conditions of international commerce and industry the schedule that this year promotes prosperity may next year fetter it.

The west is awake and militant on this subject. Senator Cullom of Illinois tells a correspondent of the New York Tribune that two questions are foremost in the minds of the voters of his state at present—Cuban reciprocity and tariff revision. Said he:

> There is no demand for anything revolutionary on tariff matters, and the people of Illinois are not willing to trust the Democrats to do the work which they feel should be done. No rates of protection provided when there was an actual necessity are sacred to us. What we want to do now is to inquire carefully into the whole subject of the Dingley schedules and determine just what rates should be cut and to what extent. I don't know how soon we shall have to take up this tremendous task, but I do know we shall have to do it before a great while.

Cuban reciprocity is closely associated with the demand for tariff revision. Senator Cullom says in effect that they are twins in Illinois. The Iowa convention indorses reciprocity in general as "the natural complement of protection."

It is not difficult to interpret the expression of the west, and it will be unwise to attempt to thwart its demands. Tariff revision is being forced to the front, and if the tariff schedules are not revised by the friends of protection there is danger that they may be revised by protection's enemies. The demand will only grow stronger with repression and from a beneficent movement may become a menace. "There is no demand for anything revolutionary in tariff matters," as Senator Cullom truly said, but it may become revolutionary if thwarted.

Encouraging Good Roads.

Some help is to be given the good roads movement in the northwest by the Great Northern railroad. A train has been placed at the disposal of the government experts for the transportation of road makers and machinery for the construction of sample roads. The same thing was done by one of the southern railroads last year, with good results. The sample roads constructed show the people how the work should be done.

There is need for some such instruction in Pennsylvania. Even in sections where school houses are numerous the rural roadways continue to be made hollow in the middle, or at the best entirely flat. The inevitable result is washing out by heavy rains, the formation of ditches and mud-holes. Anybody ought to know that a road without drainage is bound to be a bad road, but township supervisors insist upon hammering good stone into washed-out roads in such a way as to absolutely prevent any drainage except lengthwise on the roadway.

Cuban Hostility.

Reports that the Cuban government is showing hostility toward the United States may be received with reserve. It is inconceivable that President Palma, who resided for a generation in this country, and ought to know the feelings of our people toward Cuba, would give countenance to anything of the kind. To the United States Cuba must look for real help in the present and in the future. The Cuban reciprocity question is pending before congress and Cubans are vitally interested in its passage. It would be a poor way to further it for them to pursue a course that would arouse resentment in the United States. There is a noisy minority in this country glad to seize any pretext to misrepresent the feelings of Cuba toward her benefactor, the great American republic, and the circulation of reports concerning Cuban hostility may be in part at least due to its efforts to justify its existence. We will give Cuba this benefit of the doubt until more fully informed.

High Speed and Safety.

Investigation of the "packsaddle" wreck has not yet produced an authoritative opinion upon the cause. The prevalent sentiment among trainmen, without special knowledge of the circumstances, is summarized in the terse phrase "fast running." No doubt there was some more immediate cause, though the weak spot may never be definitely determined. The wreck was so complete that evidence may well be obliterated. It may have been a defective wheel, flaw in the track, slight obstruction, or something unthought of.

To the public the great question is whether modern speeds are safe. The answer is necessarily that they are not entirely so. But one accident or a dozen will not cause a revision of schedules. There is a constant demand for speed and more speed. The demand is felt in every railroad's general offices. If there is any demand for greater safety at the cost of speed it has not been felt. Occasional accidents provoke some discussion of the question and there are homilies upon hastening slowly which arouse no enthusiasm. The fervor is all reserved for the next account of a speed record broken. There may be an occasional voice in criticism of the man who runs his engine faster than the rules require, but there are many more who applaud his daring. John Kimberling was a hero. He is a dead hero, unfortunately, but the record he left behind him will be an inspiration to younger men.

Railroad managers cannot afford to censure the men who occasionally run faster than schedule time. Comparatively few men have "the nerve" requisite to making a fast schedule. Those who have are really fond of it, proud of their work and ambitious to go at higher rates of speed. They are careful men, they are men of good judgment, they are masters in an emergency. Timid engineers cannot be trusted at all. Just as in any other business, the men who excel are enthusiasts in their art.

American progress is founded upon individual enthusiasm and exemplified in speed. A few dangers more or less will cause no retracing of steps. The danger of accident increases annually in the modern life, in the city and on the farm. Care must be increased, also. That is the lesson of every accident; care, vigilant and constant; but the American spirit continues to demand the highest speed consistent with safety and crowds the safety margin all of the time.

Golf Links in Schenley Park.

No doubt there are enough persons in Pittsburgh who would like to play golf, but who lack the facilities for playing golf, to make it advisable to establish public golf links in Schenley park. There are courses in the parks now, but they are maintained by private clubs, and part of the links are on the clubs' private grounds. Theoretically speaking, the links that are on public property are open to the public, but in practice non-members could scarcely use the grounds kept in order by the clubs with that equanimity of mind which should mark the golfer. He cannot apply his mind to the game, bestowing upon his clubs the proper attention, and addressing his ball persuasively, if he is conscious that some persons regard him as an intruder, even though they do not use language to convey the information. Other large cities maintain public golf courses in their parks, and Pittsburgh might readily follow the example. The laying out of links in Schenley would be another means of putting the people's recreation grounds to their proper use. This improvement, with shelter houses and refreshment pavilions, would make the parks decidedly popular.

Prof. Hentzel of California corroborates Col. Demming's opinion that Pennsylvania has been elevated by subterranean disturbances. Those who still disbelieve have the privilege of measuring for themselves.

With all the wetting down July has given us and with the rivers at barge stage during the greater part of the month, the weather bureau assures us there was a deficiency in rainfall during July.

The German emperor has presented a gold medal to a couple who have been married 70 years. It requires perseverance in holding on to life to win a medal of that sort.

Persons who thought that July was abnormally cold will stand corrected, for the weather bureau figures out an excess of 10 degrees in the average temperature.

While Paul Kruger is holding that irreconcilable meeting in Utrecht, the wise Boers will be saying nothing but working their farms.

Wu Ting Fang will not resume the distribution of farewell souvenirs when he makes his second preparation to start for home.

Michigan Democrats are making progress. They have just nominated a goldbug on their state ticket without his consent.

Those Chicago men who paid fancy prices for oats could have got the grain much more cheaply by waiting awhile.

Cuba appears to be afflicted with a boisterous minority, also. But the majority may live it down.

King Edward acts as though he is determined to be ready when the coronation day arrives.

The striking of oil in Kentucky will help to put the feudists out of business.

Apparently the police bureau is turning a new leaf or two under pressure.

When rioting begins there is an end of strikers' prospects.

Minister Wu's departure will be of the postponed variety.

St. Swithin may not slop over into August after all.

Texas finds it exceedingly difficult to swim out.

Good morning, August! Are you going dry or wet?

Japan's Democratic Emperor.

From the Indianapolis News.

There is no barbaric splendor about the court of Japan, nor does the emperor insist on fantastic forms of homage. He is just a plain individual. His guests he receives standing, and he enters freely into conversation with all. There is scarcely a subject that does not interest him or one on which he is not well informed. A delightful host, it is his custom to surround himself with clever men—men who are the shining lights of their professions. Engineers, artists, musicians, writers, soldiers, scientists—every class of person who has won distinction is welcome at the royal table, for it is one of the characteristics of his majesty that in the distribution of his favors he is thoroughly impartial.

The Next "Fake" Scheduled.

From the Cincinnati Commercial Tribune.

The mayor of San Francisco, E. E. Schmitz, has officially, and in writing, stated that the Jeffries-Fitzsimmons fight was a fake. Next thing Tom Johnson will be certifying that the fight between Marse Henry and Grover is for keeps.

MAYOR DESIRES BRIDGE REBUILT

A Solution of Crush Problem Which Heretofore Has Not Been Suggested.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Herald Building, Herald Square.
NEW YORK, July 31.

Mayor Low, in his weekly "talk" to the citizens of New York, today made the pertinent remark that the Brooklyn bridge, 20 years old, could not be expected to be equal to the modern demands upon it as a railroad bridge. He said, what is generally understood, that the towers, cables and anchorages of the old structure are strong enough to sustain any demands upon them, but that the suspended structure cannot do any more than it is doing. He declared that there are very few, if any, railroad bridges in the country 20 years old that have not been rebuilt at least once in that interval, and in some instances twice. He favors the rebuilding of the suspended structure as early as possible. The work will cost $2,000,000; but the train capacity of the bridge would be increased 50 per cent. In all the talk about improving the dreadful conditions of crushing and delay at the Brooklyn bridge there has been nothing set forth hitherto on the advisability of rebuilding the bridge itself. It is the prevailing opinion here that Mayor Low has struck at the root of the trouble and is entitled to much credit for thinking it out on intelligent practicable lines. There will be half a dozen bridges across the East river within the next decade, plus several tunnels. When the bridges and tunnels are all in operation it will not be so difficult to dispose of the traffic between the boroughs of Manhattan and Brooklyn. The work of making a new bridge out of the present one must be completed in the meantime. A bridge that can be used in safety is a need of the hour, and if Mayor Low's suggestion is taken up actively it is probable the bridge crush will be solved. The merit of the mayor's weekly "talk" is that usually it is a well-digested series of conclusions on matters of public moment, and not a hurried newspaper "interview" that may or may not convey the true sentiments of the chief executive. For that reason the talk is always read carefully in the newspapers, and Mayor Low is credited with having hit on a good way of giving his opinions, as well as with having good opinions to offer.

Pittsburghers Sail for Europe.

Among the Pittsburgh passengers on the Hamburg-American liner Bluecher on Tuesday when she sailed from New York for Europe were Willis McCook, Miss Katherine McCook and Miss Eleanor M. McCook.

Trouble Over "Car Ahead" Ordinance.

There is more trouble over that "car ahead" ordinance. Although the cars generally go straight through to the destination advertised on the sign hung on the vehicle it happens occasionally that a car will be switched off at one of the stations of the company about half way. Then there is pretty sure to be trouble with the passengers. Early this morning, before the regular breakfast time of the ordinary New Yorker, a Third avenue car which was advertised to go to One Hundred and Twenty-fifth street was shunted into the barn at Sixty-fifth street. There were two sleepy men in the car and all declared they would stay in the car until it went to One Hundred and Twenty-fifth street. They stayed there for an hour or two and then gave it up, taking another car to Harlem. There are suits threatened and the Metropolitan Street Railway Company will most likely have to explain in court why it has violated the ordinance recently passed forbidding the transferring of passengers from one car to another without notice. The plea of the company is that the ordinance operates only barring accidents. If there should be a fire on the route, a fuse blown out, or any other occurrence making it impossible for the company to keep its compact with the passengers, then there could not be any grounds for complaint. It is a nice point, but the company is sure that it will be sustained.

Bright Season Prospects for Grand.

One of the busy figures uptown just now is Jack Huffman, the clever stage director of the Grand opera house, Pittsburgh. Mr. Huffman has been here for about three weeks, and in that time he has had to see pretty nearly everyone in the theatrical district on business of one kind and another connected with the next season at the Grand. He tells me the stock company will be the finest that has been seen at the Grand since Harry Davis introduced the stock system there. Mr. Huffman looks very well, his face being browned by ocean breezes and sunshine, and his whole appearance suggesting robust health.

A Celebrated Woman Criminal.

Exclusive New York society was much disturbed today by the conviction of that distinguished lady, "Broken-Nose Mary," of grand larceny. Mary's peccadilloes in the course of her 62 years of Arcadian existence have caused her to spend most of that time in prison. She was born in England, and the unpoetic police of this city long ago listed her in their illustrated blue book, sometimes known as the "rogues' gallery," as a "pickpocket and shoplifter." In Inspector Thomas Byrnes' famous book on criminals there is nearly a page devoted to her. She was at that time the wife of Harry Busby, alias "Broken-Nose Busby," so that broken noses seem to be a distinguishing mark of her family. When she was arrested last Monday in a department store in Broadway, with 13 pairs of gloves and 17 yards of ribbon hidden under her skirt, she gave up the fight philosophically, merely remarking to the detective: "What's the use of trying to duck when you're next?" What, indeed? She is known in every large city in the country, including Pittsburgh, and it is expected that her sentence tomorrow will be a heavy one, under the habitual criminal act.

Devery's Excursion Political Success.

Everybody in the Ninth district, and many people outside of it, are talking about the river excursion yesterday given by "Big Chief" Devery. Devery said he would give them all the time of their lives, and his friends assure him that he kept his word. There is not a more popular person in all Greater New York tonight than "Big Bill" Devery. Whatever may have been his motive—and Devery himself admits that primarily it was political—he gave a great deal to the women and children of the district of which he hopes to be leader, and they were all blessing him today. He expects to get the votes of the men, and most likely he will.

Advertised for a Balloonist.

If there is any young Pittsburgher weighing not more than 130 pounds who desires a light and airy employment he should come to New York and hunt up the amusement manager who has advertised for a young man to make balloon ascensions, with a parachute descent, at a salary of $5 a day, with board and lodging. The manager says that "Experience is unnecessary." It may be that the job will be snapped up before a Pittsburgher can apply, for there are a great many young men of adventurous disposition in this metropolis. Still, there is the offer of the manager, and I am merely passing it along.

Advertising Car Quickly Replaced.

An advertising car with accommodations for a number of bill posters, as well as the "paper," was started from Jersey City this morning for a trip to the Pacific coast. An advertising car of Buffalo Bill's Wild West show was burned at The Dalles, a little town in Oregon, last Tuesday. As soon as the car was burned Louis E. Cooke, general agent of the show, telegraphed to different places on the coast for a car, but could not get one. He then wired to the representative of the show in this city. It was found that an advertising car was lying in the yards of the Barnum & Bailey winter quarters at Bridgeport, and telephonic arrangements were made for the car to be sent Tuesday night to the Pennsylvania railroad shops for the repairs necessary for its long journey across the continent. Work was continued night and day until 7 o'clock this morning, when the car began its journey. It will arrive in San Francisco early on Monday morning, if all goes according to schedule.

Tearing Down the Tabernacle.

The work of dismantling the old Broadway tabernacle has been going on for weeks. Until now the havoc has been mainly inside the edifice. The organ was taken out piecemeal a few weeks since, and the great pulpit has been torn down and carted away. The four smaller spires from the corners of the tower have been pulled down and the walls of the church proper have been attacked this week. Not much of the work can be seen from the street, because an advertising boarding about 12 feet high surrounds the church, but it is known that the tearing down operations are proceeding apace. The building and site were sold recently to Edward F. Searles for $1,300,000. It is understood that a large hotel will be erected on the spot, although work on it will not begin for a year, at least.

Eye Diseases Prevalent in Schools.

Something like a panic has been caused among parents in New York by the statement that a severe type of the eye disease known as trachoma has become prevalent in the public schools. The disease ultimately leads to blindness. It is described as a granular condition of the conjunctiva of the eyelids frequently accompanied by haziness and vascularity of the corner. According to Dr. Lederle, commissioner of the health department 12 per cent of the children attending public schools last term were afflicted with contagious eye diseases. Dr. Lederle says that, when the schools reopen, he will have the children examined by competent physicians, and all those suffering from diseases of the eye will be excluded. It may be that only New York is troubled in this way, but there is no particular reason to think that other American cities are immune.

Passengers Dislike to Be Searched.

One of the rules of the French line of ocean steamships is that steerage passengers shall not be allowed to carry aboard any of their vessels, matches or other articles which might menace the safety of the ship. The only way to make sure of this is to search the pockets of the passengers. Naturally, the victims of the rule sometimes enter strenuous objections of this kind of hold-up, and resist the intrusion of other men's hands into their pockets. The Gascogne sailed today, and when the searching for matches, dynamite and gunpowder in the pockets of the steerage passengers was in progress it sounded like another East Side riot.

Flags Fly in Honor of ex-Mayor.

When Mayor Low arrived at his office in city hall this morning he directed that the flags of the city and state should be hoisted in honor of the natal day of the venerable ex-mayor, Abram S. Hewitt. This is the 80th birthday of the ex-mayor, and Mayor Low decided to honor him by having the flags shown. Mr. Hewitt is spending the summer at Bar Harbor at his summer home, Reverie Cove. Mayor Low sent the following telegram to Mr. Hewitt: "I send my own and the city's warm congratulations on your 80th birthday. The flags of the city hall are flying in grateful recognition of your services to the city and your fellowmen."

Devery Sets an Expensive Fashion.

Now that "Big Bill" Devery has set the example of water excursions, New York will have them nearly every day for the next few weeks. There was one this morning for the benefit of the women of the Twenty-first ward. It was given by Capt. Norton Goddard, leader of the district, and he had 16,000 guests. The crowd was not so large as Devery's, but that was not Goddard's fault. There were not so many people in his district, and he did not care to go outside to make up the 20,000 credited to Devery.

Sidewalk Nuisance Soon to Be Abated.

It is hoped that in a week the sidewalks on the west side of Broadway at Herald square, from Thirty-third to Thirty-fifth street, will be finished so that they can be used. For more than a year that side of the thoroughfare has been in chaos, through the pulling down of the old buildings and the erecting of the two immense department stores of the Macey and Sacks Companies. Pedestrians cannot keep out of the way of cars and other vehicles in front of the Sacks edifice, but the Macey people have had a temporary sidewalk for nearly two weeks. Both establishments are busy with permanent walks now, however, and it looks as if they would be completed within a very few days, perhaps by Saturday night. When they are opened for use, it will be an unspeakable relief for the hundreds of thousands of people who have to pass the new building every 24 hours.

A Notable Policeman Retired.

Police Captain Price, who has been a picturesque member of the force for 28 years, has asked to be retired, and the request was promptly granted. Price is a man of brusque manners and bulldog courage, and has done his full share of fighting, both with physical weapons and in the courts. He was under fire in the Lexow investigation and was an important witness when the Mazet committee was looking into police affairs later. He was in command of the Tenderloin for two years, and made things howl in that malodorous precinct while there. Devery, who was chief of police then, turned him out and sent him to the Grand Central depot, as a rebuke for being so active, and since that time he has been shoved about from pillar to post, until now, at 56 years of age, he is tired of it and glad to be retired on a pension, like all other good policemen in New York. Price is different from most of the prominent policemen here, in that he is not a Tammany man but a Republican.

That Mauch Chunk man who lays claim to being Judge Pennypacker's double ought to have a care. The next thing he knows he will be lampooned in the yellow journals, and then he will understand some of the penalties of greatness.

SALISBURY WAS AUSTRIA'S FRIEND

Hungarian Parliament Will Next Meet in New Palace.

By the MARQUISE DE FONTENOY.

Nowhere is Lord Salisbury's retirement more keenly regretted than at Vienna, and it is in the Austrian papers that the most sympathetic notices concerning him have appeared. There are many reasons for this. Among the least known being the part which he played in adding the provinces of Herzigovina and Bosnia to the Austrian empire.

It was Lord Salisbury who at the Berlin congress of 1878 first proposed the occupation of the two Ottoman provinces in question by Austro-Hungary, and it was largely due to his diplomacy that the project became an established fact. People at Vienna have not forgotten this, and the Austrian emperor in particular is keenly appreciative of a piece of diplomacy on the part of the minister of a foreign power which has had the effect of compensating the Hapsburg dynasty for the loss of its Italian provinces in the so disastrous wars of 1859 and 1866.

New House of Parliament.

When Hungary's parliament next meets it will be in the new, magnificent and imposing palace which has been erected on the banks of the Danube, and it is probable the building that until now served as the meeting place of the Magyar legislature, and which is situated in the so-called Sandor street, will be torn down.

Yet it deserves a better fate, for it has witnessed, so to speak, the regeneration of Hungary as a self-governing nation, no longer a mere province of Austria, but a state possessing rights equal to those of Austria in every respect, and bound to her by ties that are almost exclusively dynastic. It is not an old building. Indeed, its age is less than 40 years, but it seems to a great extent still haunted by the memories of those patriots, such as Franz Deak, Julius Andrassy, Tisza and others, whose names are so bound up with the modern history of Hungary.

When Deak died the house resolved that the seat which he occupied—it was at the end of one of the benches, should never again be filled. Accordingly it was sawed off, is preserved in the National museum at Pesth, while the vacant spot that its disappearance left has served until now as a perpetual reminder of one of the grandest figures of modern Hungarian history, of that patriot at whose bier the late Empress Elizabeth shed the only tears that were ever seen to fall from her eyes in public.

England's American Admiral.

Sir Archibald Douglas, the newly appointed vice admiral in command of the British naval forces in North American waters and in the West Indies, is a large-hearted, single-minded and popular officer who has not the faintest idea of art, but who makes up for his Philistinism in this respect by being a splendid sportsman. Moreover, he possesses the advantage—in American eyes—of having been born on this side of the Atlantic, having not only first seen daylight in Quebec, but having also received his early education there. He saw some service on the Canadian lakes in 1866 at the time of the threatened Fenian invasion, and while at the head of the Imperial Japanese Naval college at Tokio was brought into contact with a number of American naval officers who held professorships under his direction, and who had been lent by Uncle Sam to the mikado. He has just given up his shore berth of sea lord of the admiralty in London in order to hoist his flag in American waters.

Servian Succession Again.

I hear that the Servian court was not represented at the marriage of Prince Mirko of Montenegro to Mlle. Mataile Constantinovitch at Cottinje, although the emperor of Russia, the president of the French republic, the sultan of Turkey, the prince of Bulgaria and the Austrian court sent special envoys, while the count of Turin attended the ceremony in behalf of his cousin, the king of Italy.

Indeed, King Alexander actually went to the length of recalling his resident envoy at Cettinje two days before the ceremony took place, so as to thoroughly demonstrate that he would not countenance in any way the aspirations of Prince Mirko to be recognized as successor to the Servian crown.

Yet, in spite of this, Prince Mirko and his bride have a fair chance of one day ascending the Servian throne. In the event of King Alexander's death the prince's candidature would be strongly supported by both Russia and Italy, and in view of the unworthiness of the rival pretenders, it is doubtful whether Austro-Hungary would offer any opposition.

Story of Viennese College.

In view of the controversy which has arisen in connection with the removal of the sons of Dr. and Mrs. Clapham Pennington of Baltimore from the Theresianum at Vienna, a few notes concerning this wold-famed college, where so many princes of the blood have received their education, may prove of timely interest. The college was founded by Empress Marie Theresa same 160 years ago at Vienna for the purpose of training sons of the old nobility for the profession of arms at the expense of the crown, much in the same way as the pages of honor of the old Bourbon sovereigns of France, and of the emperors of Russia to this day. Indeed, during the lifetime of the great empress the institution bore the title of "College of Nobles," and it was only after her death that it received the name which it still bears today, namely, the Theresianum.

For the first 100 years or more of its existence it was restricted exclusively to the sons of the great nobles, but subsequently a more liberal policy was adopted, and the boys not only of people of bourgeois rank, but also of Hebrews, were admitted. There have likewise been a large number of foreigners among the pupils, including the present khedive of Egypt and his younger brother and heir, Prince Mehemet Ali, the late King Alfonso of Spain, the three sons of the ex-crown princess of Brazil, the son of the duke of Alencon, besides many others.

Only those pupils who are of ancient lineage both on the father's and the mother's side, figure as pages of honor at court functions.

Within the last 10 years or so the Imperial Oriental academy has been brought under the same management, and whereas those Austrians who graduate from the Theresianum receive a commission in the Austro-Hungarian army, those who graduate from the oriental academy division are awarded a commission in the diplomatic or consular service.

Count and Baron Ward.

Reginald Ward, the American financier domiciled in London, who, having acquired from the vatican the title of count by payment of the money which is demanded by the papal exchequer under the form of fees, namely $5,000, and who now is giving dinner parties on the banks of the Thames under the name of "Count" Ward, serves to recall to mind Baron Thomas Ward, the Yorkshire stable boy, who, having entered the domestic service of the last sovereign duke of Lucca, rose in course of time to be his master of the horse, his prime minister and the virtual dictator of the duchy, ennobled as Baron Ward by the duke, the title being subsequently confirmed by the then emperor of Austria.

Baron Ward was a very remarkable man, was held in high regard by Lord Palmerston and other English statesmen and is survived by two children, one of them a son, who makes his home at Vienna, while the other, a daughter, after becoming a widow of the late Marquis Hervey de St. Denis, is now Madame de Waru, enormously rich, one of the leading mondaines of Paris, and one of the chief feminine leaders of the Royalist party in France.

Society

NEXT week the annual cruise of the New York Yacht club will take place. The rendezvous will be at New London on Monday, August 4, and the waters of Long Island sound will be brilliant with the fleet of steam yachts and sailing craft belonging to the members of the club. A large number of parties will be entertained on shipboard during the cruise. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Darlington will have Mrs. Alexander Laughlin, Jr., on the "Elreba," their handsome steam yacht, during the cruise, together with other friends. Miss Darlington and Miss Madelaine Laughlin are expected back from Seabright, where they have been spending the week with Miss Dalzell. Thomas M. McKee's new boat, the "Amorita," which carried off high honors in the recent yacht races at Newport will take part in the cruise. Mr. and Mrs. McKee entertaining some of their friends on board. One or more of the Carnegie yachts will be seen during the cruise. Theodore R. Hostetter's yacht is also in commission. Charles M. Schwab's yacht, leased early in the season, will take part in the cruise, Mr. Schwab being the last Pittsburgh man to be admitted to the club, though it is uncertain whether he can be on board.

Preparations are being made all along the shores of Connecticut and Rhode Island to entertain the visitors wherever the yachts will stop. Watch Hill is on the course to Newport, where the races for the Astor cups will take place on Wednesday, August 6. On the following day the fleet of luxuriously equipped steam yachts and fleet of sailing vessels will proceed to Vineyard Haven and two days later, on Saturday, they are scheduled to reach Marblehead.

It requires a wealth of millions to own a steam yacht, for these luxuriant floating palaces require from $15,000 to $25,000 to put them in commission and cost $1,000 a day during the brief season of cruising about the waters of the Atlantic. This mode of expensive living may be further increased by the manner of entertainments.

Those in attendance were Miss Frances G. After taking the peep the prophetess made the following statement:

CHAUTAUQUA.

One Literary Circle Maintained on a British Battleship.

CHAUTAUQUA, N. Y., July 31.—(Special.)—This is the rallying day of the Chautauqua literary and scientific circle. Among the reports given by the various delegates none was more interesting than those of Mrs. Jane E. Hopper of Claremont, Canada, and Lieut. John D. Rodgers of the battleship terror of the British navy.

As showing the diversity of circumstances under which literary and scientific circles are maintained, the reports showed circles on board a British battleship, in Francis Wilson's theatrical company, in connection with a Young Woman's Christian association, among the wives of the professors in the agricultural college in Texas, and in a family of whom only the daughter could read. The circles represented numbered from 100 members to but five, and the states represented extended from Texas and Missouri to Georgia and Massachusetts.

A party of Philadelphia and Harrisburg newspaper men were entertained at Lakewood by E. D. Hardenbergh, auditor general of Pennsylvania.

NUNS' SILVER JUBILEE.

Two Good Women of the Mercy Order Celebrate a Notable Anniversary in Their Lives.

Yesterday two nuns of the Mercy order, Sister Mary Pius and Sister Mary Basil, rounded out 25 years in the service of the Master. The good women gave up their lives to Christian work in their young days, and apparently have not regretted it. They were particularly happy yesterday, as they received the congratulations of numerous friends and co-workers.

The sisters held an informal celebration at the convent in Webster avenue, "just what you of the world would call a party," one of the nuns explained. A dinner was served at noon, in the refectory, at which only nuns from other convents and some women friends sat. In the morning there was a special service in the chapel. The Rt. Rev. Bishop Richard Phelan called to congratulate the good women during the day.

Sisters Pius and Basil made their vows 25 years ago, before Bishop Tuigg, deceased, in the same chapel of the same convent in which their silver jubilee was commemorated. They were both scarcely out of their teens then. Both have done much in the years since for the advancement of the youth of both sexes in a Christian life.

Clarke's Three-Bagger Won the Game for Champions

CHESBRO LET BROOKLYN DOWN WITH TWO HITS

Hanlonites Were Unable to Bat and Lost to the Champions.

CLARKE'S THREE-BAGGER

It Came Very Timely in the Eighth and Sent Two Runs Over the Plate, Winning the Game for the Pirates.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

New York, July 31.—Happy Jack Chesbro added another shut-out to his string by whitewashing the Brooklyns today in Washington park. The tribe of Hanlon gauged his delivery for only two hits.

The support of the Pirate pitcher was gilt-edged all the way through, the infield doing the great bulk of the work.

Not until the eighth inning did the champions succeed in making any impression on Evans' pitching, he keeping their hits so widely scattered that they failed to yield any results.

Capt. Clarke and Bransfield led their team at the bat, each making three hits. They were closely followed by Beaumont, who placed two safeties to his credit.

Batting Rally in Sixth.

What promised to be a batting rally developed in the sixth inning. The champions, led by O'Connor, made three singles in that inning, but they were unable to get a man over the plate, owing to a splendid throw from deep center field by Dolan, which nipped O'Connor at the rubber by a narrow margin.

Irwin's fielding at third was the feature of the game. He accepted six chances, and on three occasions robbed the champions of hits by his clever playing.

In the eighth inning the Pirates wrought the undoing of the Hanlonites by piling up three runs. Conroy, the first baseman, was hit by a pitched ball. O'Connor raised a high foul which Irwin caught after a hard run.

Chesbro Makes a Hit.

Chesbro came to time with a safe drive which sent Conroy to third. Clarke, the next batter, was the right man in the right place. He smashed a screaming triple to left center, scoring Conroy and Chesbro.

Beaumont connected for a single, sending Clarke home. Beaumont made a dash for second, but was nailed in the act. Leach worked Evans for a pass. It looked as if Wagner was going to make his first hit of the game, but after getting Evans in a hole, the best Hans could do was to raise a high fly to Sheckard, which ended the inning.

In the ninth Brooklyn got two more men on bases. Kitson batted in place of Evans, and trotted to first on four wide ones. Bransfield made a star catch of Sheckard's high foul.

Keeler sent a long fly swishing to left field but Clarke got under the sphere after a hard run. Dolan singled, but Dahlen ended the game by flying out to Clarke.

Of Interest to Hay Fever Sufferers.

Physicians generally recommend a change of climate for the relief of hay fever, where such weeds and flowers as ragweed and honeysuckle are not indigenous, as these and many other flowers and grasses aggravate the disease. Many localities have been recommended, such as mountainous regions and the sea coast, but generally at these resorts a great deal depends upon the vagaries of the wind, and results are not always satisfactory, as if the wind should blow off shore, as it frequently does, there is no relief.

In Muskoka and among the 30,000 islands of the Georgian bay, conditions are different. It is of no consequence which way the wind blows. The preponderance of water area to land surface; the curative odors of balsam and pine, together with the elevation of a thousand feet above the sea, renders hay fever an impossible condition in these districts. Handsome illustrated booklet entitled, "Hay Fever; How to Avoid and Cure," may be had free, by applying to G. T. Bell, general passenger and ticket agent, Grand Trunk Railway System, Montreal, Canada.

BRUNOTS MATINEE RACES.

Elaborate Harness Racing Program Has Been Prepared for Tomorrow Afternoon.

The officials of the Matinee club of Pittsburgh and Allegheny have prepared an elaborate racing program for tomorrow afternoon at their Brunots Island track. Six events have been scheduled and some spirited harness racing is promised. The steamer Elizabeth will leave her wharf, foot of Market street, at 1 o'clock for the races. Two steam launches have been engaged to carry passengers across the river at the foot of Ontario street. Music will be one of the day's features. Following is the complete program:

Event No. 1, mile heats—Bret Harte, b. g. (R. H. Beggs); Miss Beatrice, b. m. (A. R. Peacock); Brother Al, b. g. (O. H. Werner.

Event No. 2—Dominier, b. g. (J. D. Callery); Uncle Bob, b. g. (E. H. Glasskarp); Crescent, b. g. (F. H. Denny); Gauzel, ch. g. (H. N. Van Vernie).

Event No. 3, pacing—Carrie Williams, b. m. (W. A. Avery); Tewksberry, g. m. (C. A. Smith).

Event No. 4—Rubber, bl. m. (J. G. Bennett); Joe Watts, ch. g. (C. Donnelly); Josephine Dixon, b. m. (R. H. Boggs).

Event No. 5—Remona (b. m. (H. Buhl, Jr.); Barbara Bonnell, c. g. (F. A. Dohrman); Red Light, ch. g. (R. H. Boggs); Miss Dean, b. m. (J. B. Chapman); Ember Day, ch. m. (J. G. Bennett).

Event No. 6—Lena H., bl. m. (J. A. Chambers); Vertigern, br. s. (H. S. Denny); Wert, b. g. (Robert Carson); Wood Girl, bl. m. (C. A. Smith); Nora Chimes, br. m. (H. Oliver).

BOY WONDER WILL RIDE.

Joe Nelson, Speedy 18-Year-Old, Races Butler Tomorrow Afternoon.

The first matinee ever held at the Coliseum track will be contested between Joe Nelson and Nat Butler in a 25-mile motor-paced race Saturday afternoon. Butler is riding in good form, and his poor showing in the race again Munroe on Wednesday was due to the saddle of his wheel, which was slipping badly. In changing wheels his loss of several laps practically put him out of the race. In his work-outs at the Coliseum track he has ridden much faster than he rode in the race the other night.

Joe Nelson, Butler's opponent, is a brother of the famous Johnny Nelson, who died from the effects of an accident on the track. He is only 18 years old, but has displayed wonderful endurance. It is not quite a year since he began to ride behind pace, yet in a work-out recently he rode 10 miles behind a single, all of them in less than 1:30, and the last three in 1:26, 1:25 and 1:24. This, behind a single motor, is a remarkable performance.

A 5-mile motor race and a 10-mile amateur race are also scheduled for Saturday. In the latter there will be special prizes for the rider leading the greatest number of laps, and also for the record in miles. The entries close at 6 o'clock this evening.

HIGH TIDE FOR VEGETABLES.

Hundreds of Tons Are Being Shipped Daily by Boat.

This week probably marks the height of the vegetable season on the rivers, and all boats are loaded with great piles of good things. From now on, rivermen say, the shipments of vegetables will decrease, and the amount of fruit increases. Marietta is the center of the vegetable trade for the Ohio river boats, and during the last few days hundreds of tons have been put aboard at that port. The bulk of the eatables are tomatoes and cucumbers, which of late years have taken the place of the melon crops that made the Marietta section famous for a long time. Wednesday the Bessie Smith, which runs from Parkersburg to Wheeling, took on 1,000 baskets of tomatoes from Marietta and points above as far up as Newport. The same day Willard Thornley, a leading merchant of Marietta, shipped three carloads of cucumbers by rail and nearly as many by boat. The greater part of the vegetable trade goes to points in the east, but a large share of them comes to Pittsburgh by boat and is distributed from here. Owing to the amount of fruit this year, most of the vegetables are of excellent quantity, and the baskets and crates that are piled up in the wharfboat are the admiration of the spectators.

BOTH PARTIES CLAIM CONTROL OF COLORADO

Closing Incidents in Gates-Osgood Fight Cause Stock Fluctuations.

TRANSFER BOOKS CLOSED

All That Remains Now Is to Count the Votes—A Brother of Charles M. Schwab Elected President of New Foundries Combine.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

New York, July 31.—Colorado Fuel and Iron went through one of its characteristic maneuvers in the early trading on the stock exchange today. The stock opened down from 160¾ to 97 and then dropped to 92⅞ in the first 15 minutes of trading. A variety of reasons was advanced in explanation of the slump, among them the following from Harris, Gates & Co.:

"The break of eight points in Colorado Fuel and Iron stock and its recovery of two points was due to an attempt on the part of the Osgood interests to demoralize the market and shake out the weak holdings. The Gates faction met this move by taking all the stock that was offered, in response to which the stock was advanced two points."

The general impression was that the sudden drop in Colorado Fuel was due to the fact that the books close today, as a result of which buying for control practically ended last night, as only cash transactions today can go on record and enjoy voting privileges at the meeting to be held next month. Whether the Gates or the Osgood faction is in control of the Colorado company is not definitely known. In certain quarters it is believed Gates has been successful. At the same time Osgood's friends claim that when the time comes for a "show down" it will be found that he is still in control.

It was reported today that a truce had been arranged between the warring factions of the Colorado Fuel and Iron Company, but this rumor was not credited.

The Osgood faction today applied to the New York stock exchange to admit $3,000,000 additional bonds to trading. Whether or not there was an ulterior motive behind the application could not be learned.

Schwab's Brother President.

The $40,000,000 American Steel Foundries Company was permanently organized at a meeting held today, and Joseph E. Schwab, a brother of Charles M. Schwab, was elected president. The other officers elected were Daniel Eagan, first vice president; Clarence H. Howard, second vice president; F. E. Patterson, secretary and treasurer; Max Pam, general counsel, and Jones, Caesar & Co., auditors. The first vice president was president of the American Steel Casting Company, a subsidiary concern of the consolidated company.

The directorate of the company is exceptionally strong and indicates that the American Steel Foundries Company is closely allied to many prominent corporations, among them the United States Steel and United States Shipbuilding companies. The directors follow: Joseph E. Schwab, Eben B. Thomas, William C. Brown, J. H. Schoonmaker, Alfred Clifford, S. R. Callaway, president of the American Locomotive Company; William K. Bixby, Max Pam, L. D. Ward, Edward Sheatson, former Comptroller of the United States Steel Corporation; Charles Miller, Lewis Nixon, president of the United States Shipbuilding Company; Daniel Eagan, G. B. Leighton, E. F. Goltra, C. H. Howard, W. D. Sargent, A. J. Eddy, H. K. Wood, Kenneth K McLaren and Donald H Mann.

Rock Island's Financial Plan.

The management of Rock Island has officially announced the proposed plan for the rearrangement of its capital stock. Each holder of 100 shares of stock will receive a $10,000 bond, secured by a collateral trust mortgage upon the stock so exchanged. In addition to this, there will be given 70 shares in the new preferred and 100 shares in the new common stock. The preferred stock is to be entitled to 4 per cent from the net earnings of each year for seven years, when it becomes preferred for 5 per cent for an additional seven years, after which it if preferred to the extent of 6 per cent a year in perpetuity. The new holding company is capitalized at $150,000,000, of which $54,000,000 is preferred and $96,000,000 common. The stock not needed for exchange will be held in the treasury of the company for future corporate purposes. It is understood that Mr. Leeds will continue as president of the new company, and James H. Moore will be made chairman of the board of directors. There is a report that H. C. Frick also will become a director.

Good Trade in Leather.

A director of the United States Leather Company says: "The leather trade has shown considerable improvement, and the prospects for an increased business were never better. The shoe manufacturers are 500,000 cases behind their production of last year, and from now on the shoe factories should hum, as the shoe trade has gone through its period of digestion as a result of last year's overproduction. People are at work throughout the United States, business conditions were never better, and there is bound to be good business in leather."

Speculation Upset in Wall Street

FLUCTUATIONS COME RAPIDLY IN SECURITIES

Few Stocks Open With Rise, but This Is Quickly Lost On Realizing.

COLORADO FUEL TUMBLES

New Rock Island Project Likely to Prove Bad for St. Louis and San Francisco—Money Market Calm—Exchange Holds Steady.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

New York, July 31.—There was such a turmoil in the opening stock market today as to upset the speculative sentiment and disappoint the hopes of a renewal of a consistent upward movement of prices, which had been indulged as a result of yesterday's development of fresh railroad deals. Probably the feverish upward dash of St. Louis & San Francisco, Evansville & Terre Haute, New York Air Brake and a few other stocks would have been sufficient in themselves to have disturbed sentiment. But when there was added the downward plunge of over 8 points in Colorado Fuel and a sharp decline in People's Gas, the upward course of prices with which the market opened quickly gave place to realizing. St. Paul's opening rise of over a point was lost within a few minutes of trading. St. Louis & San Francisco sagged back to below last night during the course of the forenoon. A few scattered advances at different times during the day proved ineffectual to rouse the market to activity. Chicago & Alton and Chicago Terminal Transfer advanced in company on mysterious hints of coming important developments. The rise in Reading seemed to be based upon the assumption that the rioting in the mine regions and the calling out of the troops foreshadowed the break-up of the strike.

No Good for Voting.

The drop in Colorado Fuel was attributed to the fact that the company's books close today for the stockholders' meeting, so that new purchases would not carry voting power for the meeting. People's Gas decline was due to the refusal of a judicial injunction against the enforcement of the 75-cent gas ordinance. The quick subsidence of the excitement which broke out in the market yesterday when the St. Louis & San Francisco and Chicago & Eastern Illinois were reported to have consolidated was primarily due to the uncertainty over the actual fact. All persons interested were exceedingly reticent, and doubts were aroused as to the real consummation of the project. Furthermore, supposing the project to be achieved, there will be disappointments involved. It is a matter of public notoriety that Illinois Central has recently made an offer designed to secure control of Chicago & Eastern Illinois. The advance in St. Louis & San Francisco for the past week has been on the assumption that it was the "important system" pointed at as destined for inclusion in the new Rock Island Company.

Means Stronger Competition.

The fact that the new project points to strengthened competition and is thus calculated to arouse antagonisms makes it similar to many of the recent financial projects talked of, and marks their departure from the much-discussed community of interest policy, which was to parcel out harmoniously the whole railroad territory amongst the various financial powers. The money market was calm today, but sterling exchange held steady at the level of the recent gold exports. The government deficit, which reached over $12,000,000 at one time this month, fell to below $8,000,000 today and the sub-treasury in New York received a payment of over $1,000,000 by the Central Pacific Railroad Company on account of a note due to the government. The market closed quite active and weak, prices running off sharply just at the last.

Bonds were very irregular and inclined to be easier in the morning. The St. Louis Southwestern 2ds were in large demand. Total sales par value $2,103,000. United States bonds were unchanged on the last call.

WALL STREET FEATURES.

Total sales for the day, 567,000 shares.

Sterling exchange still holds steady at recent gold export level.

Colorado Fuel slumps from 97 to 93, with sales of 26,800 shares.

St. Louis & San Francisco common goes under 82, with sales of 15,100 shares. Preferred stocks also fall.

Rock Island is but slightly affected by conversion plan, the matter having been discounted in advance.

United States Steel shows a slight decline.

Bonds very irregular and easier.

Talked About in Wall Street

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, July 31.—The Herald this (Friday) morning says: The enthusiasm, if it could be so called, which appeared in the stock market in the closing hour of Wednesday, was not long continued yesterday, and the movement for the greater portion of the day was of a desultory character, with marked irregularity. There was a marked curtailment of activity and a very poor distribution of business, which showed rather conclusively that the new deal stories had not aroused any public interest. The pool and cliques continued operations in their specialties, but there appeared to be a disposition on the part of many leaders to await developments.

* * *

In professional circles the Chicago & Eastern Illinois purchase by the St. Louis & San Francisco railroad, and the official announcement of the Rock Island were both cited as causes which contributed to the curtailment of activity. The high price paid by the 'Frisco for the Eastern Illinois property received much attention. The terms, as officially stated yesterday, are $250 in bonds for each share of Eastern Illinois common and $150 for the preferred. This figures about $28,200,000 in 4 per cent collateral trust bonds for the property, which is thought to be a pretty steep price. Burlington at $200 begins to look cheap beside the new finance.

* * *

The official announcement of the Rock Island plan disclosed some features even less satisfactory than those contained in the semi-official reports. The capital of the new companies is $225,000,000, against $206,250,000 as originally estimated, though an amount of $202,500,000 only is to be issued at the outset. The feature of the plan which was most criticised was the concentration of sole voting power with the smaller issue of preferred stock. This is to be $54,000,000, so that a par value of $28,000,000 preferred will control the entire system.

* * *

During the day the Rock Island Company made public an estimate of capitalization of its own railroad and those of a number of prominent companies, to justify the amount of its capital issue. The Rock Island made an excellent showing based upon the estimates of selling value of some recently ballooned issues and some properties once or twice through receiverships and such as have been reorganized without receivers. It was regarded as doubtful in conservative banking quarters if a debt per mile based on the present selling value of St. Paul, Northwest or Illinois Central, establishes a comparison of any material values.

YOUNGSTERS FROM THE TENEMENTS MADE HAPPY

Volunteers of America Gave About 300 of the Little Ones a Merry Outing Yesterday.

Three hundred youngsters of all ages and sizes, of various nationalities and tastes, made merry yesterday at Southern park, their outing being made possible through the kind philanthropy of the East End corps, Volunteers of America. Adjt. Ids. B. Corbin had charge of the affair, assisted by several of her subordinates.

The youngsters were taken out to the park bright and early on special trolley cars. They were gathered up from the poorer sections of the East End and Oakland. For once in their lives, at least, they had a happy day. On the way out they sang and shouted to their hearts' content. As soon as the park was reached there was a grand rush for the swings and merry-go-rounds, those attractions proving stronger than the sandwich counter or the candy booth.

There was no want of good things for the little ones. Pies, cakes, creams and other things that delight the child-appetite were provided. It required quite a lot of stuff to feed so many youngsters.

Not a child left the park last night that could not say he had made the eagle scream, for this was just one of the things every child did. Down in a remote nook of the park there was a huge representation of an American eagle which screamed delightfully when pressed. The children pressed him and he screamed until he finally became hoarse. Adjt. Corbin said she never saw youngsters enjoy themselves as they did.

"You see," she said, pointing to a group of merry youngsters, "there are various ways of doing good in this world. But to make little ones happy is surely the best. Grown-up persons of either sex can struggle along somehow or other, but the little ones cannot. It is everyone's duty to try and make child-life happy."

TEST WAS A SURPRISE.

Officials of Both Cities Witnessed James E. Weaver's Trial of a New Electric Fire Engine.

The chief fire marshals and electricians of Pittsburgh and Allegheny and other public safety officials of both cities witnessed a test of James E. Weaver's new electric fire engine at the foot of Juniata and Market streets, Allegheny, yesterday morning. A corps of employes of the Pittsburgh Railways Company tapped the traction wires to supply the engine with power.

With but two-thirds of its entire strength in use, the engine threw two streams of water higher than will an ordinary engine and exhausted the water in the hose. Weaver claims that his engine will throw with such force that the water will burst the hose if the speed motors are given their full play. He regulates it at the factory required to throw a stream over the highest building in a large city, if necessary.

The second motor was not brought into use at this test, owing to the fact that a circuit breaker blew out, preventing a thorough test. The Bullock Electric Company of Philadelphia, which has the contract, is experimenting with a new circuit breaker and supplied it for the test instead of using an ordinary breaker. Weaver protested at its use, but as he has not accepted the engine, and the company is bonded to make it work right, he could not dictate. A new circuit breaker will have to be supplied before a thorough test of both motors can be made, but all who witnessed the trial pronounced it satisfactory as far as it went.

One of the electricians present said that the engine is a wonder. A new and thorough test will be made in a few days, when the same officials will be present.

Court Takes Wind Out of Grains

MONTH'S CLOSE FAILS TO SHOW GREAT TROUBLE

Prices Sag in All the Cereals With Corners Legally Knocked Out.

JULY WHEAT'S BIG SLUMP

Tumble of Almost Six Cents Is Recorded—Chief Interest Centered in Oats—Big Line Held by Bulls Bought at 40 Cents.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

Chicago, July 31.—July corners were snuffed out today. Quiet and with little excitement save that influenced by the injunction against a corner in July standard oats the manipulated deals died in the arms of their projectors. July wheat cut the most spectacular figure by slumping almost 6 cents. The July corn corner faded into history with the closing prices 2½c lower than the high price exacted when the Gates clique was in control. July oats, although controlled absolutely by the Patten-Frazier crowd, closed uneventfully, doubtless held down by the fear of the court when the injunction case comes up to be settled. With manipulation largely out of the way, other options in grains felt the bearish effect of big shipments to market, lower cables, fine weather and heavy sales and consistently declined all around. At the close July wheat was 5¾c lower, September wheat ⅝@1c down, July corn 3c lower, September corn ¾c lower, July oats 1c up and September oats ⅝@1½c lower. Provisions closed 2½c up to 12½c down.

Interest centered in oats because of the injunction proceedings against James A. Patten, Bartlett, Frazier & Co., and Carrington, Patten & Co. Trade hung fire for a time at the start because the case was in court. A little covering was done early which started prices up somewhat.

Court Causes Sag in Prices.

When the court interpreted the injunction for the parties interested and stated that only one house was interested (a house short 55,000 bushels of July) and that with the exception of deals with this house all business could go on as usual on 'change, prices sagged.

Patten sold freely in the pit to any who wanted the stuff at 65c—2c over yesterday. About 100,000 bushels were covered early. Then rather heavy liquidation set in all around. The general feeling among speculators was that had there not been an injunction in effect protecting one firm, prices probably would have been boosted and the July corner would have been completed in sensational fashion. For the first time today it was learned that the bull interest controlled 1,862,000 bushels bought below 40c. July, after opening 1c up at 64c, sold at 65c, dipped to 63¾c and closed 1c up at 64c. September sold from 32⅝c to 31¼c and closed weak, ⅜@⅝c lower at 31¾c. Receipts were 245 cars.

A break of 6c in July wheat was the feature of the leading pit today. Trade was dull at times and prices were inclined to be erratic. Covering and the effect of the big exports of yesterday started prices higher. Deliveries of 500,000 bushels on July contracts, however, with heavy selling in all deferred options, brought a break.

July Badly Bumped.

July opened ⅛c down to ⅞c up at 75c to 76c, hung fire for some time around the top and then plunged in a panicky fashion to 69¼c. Few traders wanted July, although there was a fair cash demand. September opened ⅛c to ¼c up at 70⅝c to 70¾c, broke to 69½c and closed weak, ⅞@1c down at 69½@69¾c. July closed 5⅝c down at 69¾c. Local receipts were 349 cars, 7 of contract grade. Minneapolis and Duluth reported 152 cars, making a total for the three points of 501 cars, against 353 last week and 424 a year ago. Primary receipts were 1,148,000 bushels, compared to 993,000 last year.

There was heavy selling in corn and prices broke. In spite of only 65 cars estimated for tomorrow September sold from 56⅝c down to 54¾c and July from 59c to 56c. There was a little rally in September, as early weak cables improved, but the close was weak, ¾c down at 55½c.

Provisions were only fairly active and ruled generally lower on weakness in lard. Early prices were firm on a strong hog situation and support. Ribs had the best support and September options of this product closed 2½c up at $10 35, September pork closed 12½c down at $16 77½, and September lard 5@7½c lower at $10 82½@10 85.

Estimated receipts for tomorrow: Wheat, 300 cars; corn, 65; oats, 160; hogs, 12,000 head.

The Local Stocks Broke the Year's Record for Dullness

THE SALES WERE ALL SMALL AND INSIGNIFICANT

Hardly Enough Business Was Transacted to Pay For One Broker's Time.

ELECTRIC SECONDS HIGHER

Westinghouse Airbrake Advanced $1.75 on Good Buying—Window Glass Dull and Lower—Steels Easy—Coalers Quiet—Bonds Dull.

The market on the Pittsburgh stock exchange yesterday broke the record for dullness for the year to date. The sales were only 1,839 shares of stock and $8,000 bonds and were all of them quite small and insignificant. Indeed, the total sales of the day hardly yielded enough commissions to fairly pay a single broker for his time. The first trades of the day were in Westinghouse Airbrake and this stock practically furnished all the chance for gossip that was afforded during the session. All told, 200 shares were sold and the price advanced from 183 at the opening to 185 later on for 10 shares. The closing was firm at 184¾, sales and bid, for regular lots. This left a gain of 1¾ for the day. The advance is accompanied by some kind of a deal with the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company and the Westinghouse Airbrake Company, which was making some kind of a Westinghouse Electric seconds intensely dull, less than 100 shares selling, but they managed to score an advance of ⅝ at 103½ and closed still higher at 106¾ bid with no offers under 107. The firsts were dull but steady at 109 for 5 shares. Window Glass common had but one trade during the entire session, 50 shares changing hands at 60¾, a loss of ¼. A block of 100 United States Glass common sold at 38½, a gain of $1, and 26 was afterward bid for 1,000. In the steel stocks exceedingly little was done, and all were inclined to easiness. Crucible common closed at 21⅛, sales and asked, and the preferred marketed a small lot at 85⅞, a decline of ⅛. United States Steel preferred went until just before the close without a sale, when 240 shares changed hands at 89⅝@89¾, a loss of ⅛. The common did not sell, but closed at 39⅝ bid and 39¾ asked. Fire Proofing issues were dull and barely steady. The same was true of the coalers. In the quotations First National bank advanced to 608 bid and Diamond National bank went up to $412 bid, a new high record. Offers occurred at $450. Bonds were very dull but steady.

Robinson Bros. sold Republic National bank at 113, a new low record.

Hill & Co. offered 500 Pittsburgh Coal preferred at 90¾ at the opening.

The last sale of the day was 55 Pittsburgh Coal preferred at 50, Sproul & Co. to Hill & Co.

There was only one trade in Window Glass common during the day, and Hill was the buyer.

Hill & Co. bought American Trust Company at 128; they sold Westinghouse Electric seconds.

H. M. Long bought $5,000 New Castle Traction bonds at 105½ from Speer Bros.; the sale was not posted.

R. F. Turner of Kittanning, a charter member of the Pittsburgh stock exchange, was on the floor yesterday.

North Side Bridge preferred, which has been quoting at 16 bid for several weeks, was advanced to 16¼ bid.

Robinson Bros. bought United States Steel preferred from A. J. Lawrence & Co.; the common was not traded in.

Near the close John B. Barbour, Jr., bid 28 for 500 Pittsburgh Coal common and A. J. Lawrence bid that price for 400.

Preston, Watt & Schoyer were sellers of Pittsburgh Coal preferred; McMullin bought the common and Hill the preferred.

The first sales of the day were in Westinghouse Airbrake at 183; near the close a small lot sold at 185, the buying was scattered.

A New York stock exchange membership sold at $75,000. The previous sale was at $73,500, and a fortnight ago a transfer was made at $70,000.

R. C. Hall was the buyer of 100 National Fire Proofing preferred from Speer & Co. at 89½, after having previously sold 6 shares to Hoag & Grier at 90.

Harris, Gates & Co. were out with a statement that yesterday morning's break in Colorado Fuel & Iron was due to an attempt by the Osgood party to break the market. The Gates interests took all the stock offered and checked the decline.

The members of the Pittsburgh stock exchange are arranging for a game of baseball for August 6. If Exposition park can be secured the game will be played there. The bulls will be captained by W. E. Patrick and the bears by John M. Askin. W. I. Mustin and James Carothers will officiate as umpires.

It is said that representatives of important foreign banking interests are in the United States, are to visit this country on a tour of inspection and report upon the properties of the United States Steel corporation. This is believed to be at the instance of J. P. Morgan. Foreign investment in the steel shares is already extensive.

Current gold engagements are almost uniformly explained by the explanation that the transactions are "special;" that they are not shipped as normal results of the exchange market, but that the yellow metal is taken to Europe because of sudden exigencies in important quarters there, having no direct relationship with American business whatever. "We send the gold because we have it and can spare it without embarrassment," is the explanation in Wall street.

It is reported that the terms upon which the constituent companies will be absorbed by the United States Realty and Construction Company are substantially as follows: The stockholders of the George A. Fuller Construction Company are to receive $20,000,000 of the new stock, of which one-half will be preferred and one-half new common. To the shareholders in the New York Realty Corporation $10,000,000 of the new stock will be issued, of which one-half is common and one-half preferred. For the stock of the Alliance Company there will be given $2,850,000 of the new common stock and an equal amount of the new preferred stock. The real estate of the Central Realty Bond & Trust Company will be bought for $2,600,000, payable half in common and half in preferred stock. The new company is said will start with about $9,000,000 cash in its treasury. Underwriting has already been arranged, about $11,000,000 being taken by the Mutual Life Insurance Company and other companies, the National City bank, and others.

JULY BROKE ITS RECORD.

Pittsburgh Bank Exchanges for the Month Almost Up to the Record Holder.

Pittsburgh bank exchanges for the month of July, ended yesterday, eclipsed all records for that month in the history of the Pittsburgh Clearing House association and almost came up to the total of the biggest month ever recorded—that of April, 1901, which had $205,853,442 33, or $3,163,496 more than July, 1902, with its total of $202,683,945 55. The total for the month just ended shows an increase of $23,190,965 48 over the same month a year ago, and is just that much ahead of all July records. Compared with the preceding month —June, 1902, there was an increase of $31,700,000 in round numbers. This increase brings the total for the year to date—seven months, up to $1,207,542,100 25, which is only a little over $1,000,000 less than the figures at the same time a year ago. The enormous increase at this dull season of the year is probably due to the payments of large sums for new stock subscriptions, and the fact that new and large institutions have become members of the Clearing House association, and thus swelled its exchanges. Then, too, the banker is a very busy person, and undoubtedly much curtailed by the great steel strike, which directly affected the business of this locality.

The local money market ruled throughout the month generally rather stringent. A few institutions had money to loan, but others found it necessary to make calls, and this kept the market in a very "spotted" and unsettled condition. At the close it was still "spotted" and quite firm without prospects of material early relief. The rate for call and time loans, however, continued to be quoted at 5 @6 per cent.

The official clearing house reports in detail for the days mentioned are as follows:

	Exchanges.	Balances.

Wall Street Brokers' "Tips."

I think K. U. preferred a purchase.

Mexican issues seem to be looking up. Some think there will be something doing in Mexican National now in a few days.

I hear that there are some buying orders being put out in Wisconsin Central and Ivy Erie man tells me that it's time now to buy the Erie.

Take hold of Kansas City, Ft. Scott & Memphis preferred. It is booked for a big rise. There is a possibility that something to those recently given by Union Pacific are forthcoming. Buy Erie first preferred.—Josephs.

Most of the market is beneath contempt. Run by a few pools juggling in their stocks so as to choke off trading. The preferred is strong and would sell much higher were it not for a very weak-kneed crowd who have a little stock to sell.

We believe the situation to be sound and that the present high prices are justified to a more or less extent by underlying conditions, and we continue to be conservatively bullish, believing that steel stocks, especially the coal and railroad stocks, can be safely bought on any reaction for a rise.—Lominsbery.

People who are well informed on Southern Railway's affairs are very bullish on this stock. We think the stock looks cheap, but there is a strong belief that the controlling interests in the property have some plans for readjustment of railway systems in the south, the working out of which will have an important effect on Southern Railway. On anything that may be contemplated in this direction there is no official information.

JULY'S EXCHANGE SALES WERE SMALLER.

The publicly recorded business upon the Pittsburgh stock exchange during the month of July was considerably smaller than that for its predecessor—June, for the same month—July, of last year. SECOND AVENUE LOT IS RESOLD AT GOOD PROFIT

John W. Garland Buys Property at Nos. 335-337 for $44,000.

THREE RESIDENCE SALES.

Purchases of Two Large South Side Properties Still Under Cover—Thornton Bros. Secure Property at No. 311 Market Street.

John W. Garland has purchased the property at Nos. 335 and 337 Second avenue for $44,000. The deal is said to have been negotiated by C. C. Hamilton. The lot has a frontage of 45 feet in the north side of the avenue, near Smithfield street, and a depth of 80 feet. A two-story brick building now occupies the site. Title to the property was secured from J. F. Young, who purchased it several weeks ago for $40,000 from the following heirs of G. J. Young: F. G. Fricke, Peter Young, Margaret Lang, Edith Black and the heirs of Elizabeth Meyer. Mr. Garland's purchase was made for an investment and it is said no changes are contemplated at present.

Another deal, amounting to $16,500, was also made yesterday through Mr. Hamilton's agency. This was the transfer of the property at Nos. 1629-1631 Penn avenue from W. A. McKelvey to Charles A. Muehlbronner. The lot measures 45x100 feet and is improved with two two-story brick houses.

Good Residences Sold.

D. W. Pershing has disposed of two more of his residence properties for $25,500. The larger property consists of a 12-room brick house on lot 50x150 feet in the east side of Graham street, near Friendship avenue, Nineteenth ward. This property was sold to a prominent business man for $16,000. The house is one of the four new residences that Mr. Pershing built in Graham street last year. This is the third one which has been sold and it will be occupied by the purchaser as a home.

The other residence is located at the southwest corner of Grandview avenue and Republic street, Thirty-fifth ward. It was bought by C. C. Hamilton for $9,500. The residence is a 12-room brick house, standing on a lot 85x120 feet. The purchase was made for an investment.

A $20,000 Purchase.

Through the agency of J. B. Crooks, Henry Hartman has purchased from George H. Hubbard the property at No. 217 South Negley avenue, Twentieth ward, for $20,000. The lot has a frontage of 30 feet and a depth of 115 feet, and is located between Friendship avenue and Eva street. The house is a new brick dwelling of the colonial style and contains 12 rooms, all handsomely finished.

The Commonwealth Real Estate & Trust Company has completed the sale of a vacant lot, 100x145 feet, situated in Homewood avenue near Beechwood boulevard. The property formerly belonged to George W. J. Bissell, and was sold for $10,000 cash. The purchaser, whose name was withheld, will improve the lot at once with a large brick house.

Broker Made Known.

It develops that Harry D. Sellers was the broker who negotiated the sale of the Atterbury Glass Company property on the South Side. The exact price was $175,000. The lot adjoins the old Abel-Smith glass works on the east. It has a frontage of 196 feet in Carson street and a depth to the Monongahela river of about 700 feet. Neither the owners nor the broker would disclose the purchaser of the property, although they admitted that articles of agreement had been signed. The report that the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie Railroad Company bought both the Robinson-Rea property and the Atterbury property is not generally believed. The Robinson-Rea property was sold by the Commonwealth Real Estate and Trust Company for $350,000, and it was learned yesterday that the same purchaser bought both lots. It was also denied by interested parties that the properties had been acquired by the River and Railroad Terminal Company, which has lately taken over the business of the Henderson-Johnston Company, and made offers for both properties.

A New Buyer Turns Up.

The purchasers of the property at No. 311 Market street, which was reported sold last week to J. R. Levy for $52,000, turn out to have been Thornton Bros. The deal was negotiated by T. C. Allison of Allegheny, and the exact consideration was $55,000. The lot is a very deep one, measuring 175 feet, with a frontage of 18.75 feet on the west side of the street near Third avenue. The three-story brick block on the lot is now occupied by Philip Landau as a drygoods and notion store. Thornton Bros., who have been investing considerably in Pittsburgh and Allegheny property of late, bought for investment.

Siebold & Dunseith sold for Mrs. T. C. Culley to Mary Nicholson a property on the north side of Bakewell avenue, near Eckert street, Eleventh ward, for $5,000.

The same firm sold for Nicholas J. Knollinger to H. E. Davis an improved lot, 25x100 feet, in the Tenth ward, Allegheny, for $2,000.

Wallace street: Simma I. Groah sold to Benjamin A. Groah an improved lot, 60x140 feet, on the southeast side of Wallace street, Fourteenth ward, for $3,000.

Aurelia street: Robert M. Davidson sold to Michael O'Brien an improved lot, 50x120 feet, on the south side of Aurelia street, near Shady avenue, Twentieth ward, for $5,200.

Franklin street: S. Arnold sold for the Murray heirs to Rabbi Moses S. Sivitz, No. 1229 Franklin street, near Logan street, Seventh ward, a three-story brick house on a lot, 20x124 feet, for $5,200.

Frequent Small Sales.

Freeland street: William V. Sheppard sold to Alexander H. Hunter an improved lot, 50x100 feet, on the south side of Freeland street, Thirty-eighth ward, for $1,550.

Negley avenue: Levi Harris sold to Charles W. Mauk an improved lot, 10x34 feet, in Negley avenue near Eva street, Twentieth ward, for $1,250.

Maple terrace: Mary Halpin sold to Mary Hughes a lot, 35x103 feet, on the west side of Maple terrace, Thirty-second ward, for $2,000.

South 8l6e: The estate of Felix R. Brunot sold to John B. Brunot an undivided one-eighth interest in three properties, one in the Thirty-fifth ward, one in the Thirty-second ward and one in Verona, for $2,500.

BOY IS MISSING.

Scottdale Lad of 9 Sent on Errand Monday and Has Not Returned.

SCOTTDALE, PA., July 31.—(Special.)—Walter Rockwell, 9-year-old son of Mrs. Laura B. Rockwell of East Scottdale, has been missing since Monday morning. The lad was sent on an errand by his mother. When he did not return during the day search was made for him among the neighbors, but he could not be found.

The police were not notified until this morning and searching parties are being organized. The last seen of the boy was by some companions on the hill back of Everson. It is thought that the child might have wandered into one of the abandoned mines in the vicinity and in the darkness could not find his way out.

Mrs. Rockwell is ill, and is completely prostrated by the loss of her boy.

OLD SUITS WERE REMOVED TO THE MIDDLE DISTRICT

Nine Actions in United States Court Not Tried in 13 Years.

BANKRUPTCY PETITIONS.

Creditors of an Erie Publishing Company Accuse Directors of Attempting to Prefer Other Creditors in the Sale of Its Plant.

Petitions were filed in the United States circuit court yesterday for the removal of the suits of the Robert Morris Land & Coal Company against the Philadelphia & Reading Coal & Iron Company, the Locust Gap Improvement Company and the Fulton Coal Company, from the western district of the United States circuit court to the middle district. The suits were filed in November, 1889, before the middle district was created, and have been on the trial list, but have never been called. As they are the results of differences of the litigants over certain tracts of land in Northumberland county, which county since the establishment of the middle district has become a part of that district, the litigants ask that they be removed to that district.

The suits are nine in number and are actions of ejectment and trespass arising from the dispute in the ownership of some 28 tracts of land in Northumberland county, which the plaintiffs brought to recover possession of. Judge Marcus W. Acheson ordered that the cases be removed as requested.

In the United States district court a petition in bankruptcy was filed by Charles C. Hunter, a clerk of Pittsburgh, showing his liabilities to be $3,909 and his assets $113.

A similar petition was against the Dispatch Publishing Company of Erie, Pa., by the International Paper Company, the Akron Printing Company and the Mergenthaler Linotype Company. The petitioners allege that the company on April 7, 1902, while insolvent, sold the plant, property and good will of the company to Charles H. Strong for about $15,000; that the money was distributed among certain creditors with intent to prefer such creditors and allow them greater preference than the petitioning creditors. They also claim that all the directors of the company are liable for the payment of the debts.

Elmer E. Gregg of Coraopolis was discharged from bankruptcy.

OPPOSED BY THE BROTHER.

Hampton J. Miller Objects to F. C. Miller's Appointment as His Trustee.

Hampton J. Miller yesterday filed an answer to the petition of his brother, Florence C. Miller, asking to be appointed trustee of Hampton J. Miller's fund of $15,000, derived from the sale of the Monongahela house property.

The respondent declares Florence C. Miller is not entitled to be trustee, explaining that under the will of their father, Alexander H. Miller, the respondent was entitled to a legacy of $500 per annum, to be charged on all of the real estate.

He says that upon the advice of Florence C. Miller the legacy was discharged upon all of the real estate except the Monongahela house property.

Miller also states in his answer that the money ought to be placed in the hands of a trustee for investment, so that he can always be reasonably assured of the proper payment of his annuity without costs, and suggests the Colonial Trust Company as such.

Wants a New School.

A petition was filed in quarter sessions court in the matter of the indebtedness of the borough of Munhall. The petition sets forth that the borough is not suitably supplied with a school building and asks to be allowed to issue 78 bonds of $1,000 each and bearing 4 per cent interest, for the purpose of erecting a new school building in Eleventh avenue, at a cost of $78,000. The borough is at present free from debt and the assessed valuation of the property is $3,937,610.

LEGAL BRIEFS.

The will of George W. McClelland of Etna was filed. An estate worth $5,500 is left to his wife.

James Clark and John Giovingo want damages from the Pittsburgh Railway Company for alleged injuries received.

By the will of William Mena of Pittsburgh a $1,400 estate goes to his widow. Attorney Alexander E. Goss represents the estate.

Frank Winter wants $3,000 from Frank Holitz for alleged slander. He claims the defendant accused him of taking a pocketbook.

Stephan J. Kertesz sued the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie Railroad Company for $1,000 for the killing of two horses at Homestead by a train.

Harvey Siebol sued the Central District and Printing Telegraph Company for $15,000 damages for alleged personal injuries received by a pole falling upon him.

R. A. Balph, as administrator of the estate of Crawford Robinson, filed an account. He charges himself with $13,226 74 and has a balance for distribution of $12,569 95.

Inventories and appraisements show the valuation of the personal property in the following estates: Thomas Gamble, $18,468 30; Mrs. Nancy Ferree, $12,048; Edward Boyer, $5,765 30.

Executions were issued as follows: Sallie J. Long vs. William F. Morris, $207; Caroline Mitchell vs. Mitchell, $1,000; John Heitl vs. Wenzel Heini, $630; August Kartlick vs. Matt Cavanaugh, $427 73.

William Sutter entered suit against James Stewart, third assistant engineer of the bureau of fire, and William Morgan, a driver, to recover damages for alleged personal injuries received. Sutter, who is a conductor on the Pittsburgh & Birmingham line, says he ran ahead of his car to turn a switch on Carson street on December 18, 1901, and was run down by a buggy occupied by the defendants.

A petition was filed in the United States circuit court by the Haverhill Roller Toboggan Company against C. Sanson, William Hocking, O. C. Hartley, J. M. Shuck, D. C. Muir, H. L. Greer and J. R. McQuaide of Pittsburgh and E. Joy Morris of Philadelphia, asking that they be restrained from using a device said to be similar to one used by the plaintiff. It is also asked that a master be appointed to assess damages.

The report of the master in the divorce case of Ferdinando De Gano against Mary De Gano recommends a divorce. Mrs. De Gano left her husband and later sued him for nonsupport. He was sentenced to pay her $1 50 per week. After waiting three years and six months De Gano entered suit for divorce, charging desertion. The action was contested by the wife, who alleged she was compelled to leave him because of his cruelty.
